Outcome of Analysis Will Decide Whether Body Will Be Exhumed

By Associated Press

Columbus, O.—Results of the scientific examination being made in connection with certain phases of the Sheatsley furnace mystery will not be made before the first of next week, County Prosecutor John R. King announced at noon Wednesday after a conference with Dr. H. M. Brundage, a pathologist, who with Chemist C. F. Long, is conducting the examination.

Mr. King said that no preliminary report of any one phase of the scientific examination would be made. The report, promised for next Monday or Tuesday, will include, he said, conclusions of the scientists on the guinea pig experiment and to whether brownish crimson stains found on a number of articles in the paragonage of the Lutheran church in the fashionable Bexley district are human blood.

Upon the result of this analysis hinges the possibility that the body may be exhumed, the prosecutor indicated. Edward M. Abbott, the undertaker who removed the body from the furnace and prepared it for burial in the Lutheran church in the Bexley district, practically incriminated on Nov. 17, was due to arrive here Wednesday afternoon. The minister and his four children are expected to voluntarily offer supplementary testimony to authorities. He gave statements of their movements on the day of the tragedy to authorities on Nov. 18, and they are expected to clear up a number of points which are not exactly clear in the minds of the investigators. The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley told Prosecutor King a week ago that he believed his wife committed suicide casting herself into the furnace after becoming violently insane.

Tom Jones, 22, who said his home is in St. Louis, was held Wednesday by police after being identified as the man who left an overcoat scorched on a sleeve and bearing stains in a dry cleaning establishment, for repairs shortly after the body was found. The stains, he said, were paint and the scorches on the sleeve had resulted from sleep near camp fires.

Detective James Freer, of the Columbus Police department, Wednesday was assigned to the case. He will work with Detective Harry Carson.

GIRL'S AMNESIA FAKE, MEDIC SAYS

By Associated Press

Chicago.—The malady of the mysterious unidentified girl found in a faint at Union station last week who has baffled efforts to learn her name, is 90 per cent fake and 10 per cent hysteria, according to Dr. Clarence Newman, psychiatrist of the Northwestern medical school.

Dr. Newman has made two attempts by hypnosis to solve the question of her identity. Each time she seemed to pass readily under the spell and answer questions none of which developed any clues.

Without cooperation on the subject nothing further can be accomplished through hypnosis, Dr. Newman said. He said he was through with the case.

MERCHANTS AID COLLEAGUE IN LOONEY TRIAL

Scores of Businessmen Offer
Bail for Accused Jeweler in Gang War

By Associated Press

Rock Island, Ill.—Scores of leading Rock Island businessmen stormed the court house Wednesday morning, volunteering to sign the bonds of Jacob Ramser, retail jeweler indicted Tuesday for murder in connection with the killing of John Connor Looney in an underworld gang fight two years ago in the heart of the city.

The charge is on the strength of affidavits sworn to by Anthony W. Billburg and George Holsapple, both convicted some time ago and under penitentiary sentence for the crime in which they allege Ramser was involved.

Billburg and Holsapple also sought to involve in the Looney killing, J. W. Potter, publisher of the Rock Island Argus, J. M. Colligan, managing editor of that newspaper and Thomas Haegge, clothing merchant, but the grand jury ignored the charges as to the three latter citizens.

The Argus led the fight against the local underworld which gained control of the city and county governments and was running affairs with a high hand, with lawlessness general over the county.

John P. Looney, father of the slain youth, and Billburg, were leaders of rival underworld gangs, and it was these that clashed the day young Looney was killed. The elder Looney has been a fugitive from justice here for two years, and there are a number of indictments pending against him in Rock Island.

Ramser is at liberty on $20,000 bonds. His attorneys are insisting on an early trial for him.

KNOWS NOTHING OF DEATH, WOMAN SAYS

Authorities Suspect Murder
After Finding Body of Prominent Banker

San Bernardino, Calif.—Miss Mary Watkins, approaching the witness stand at a coroner's inquest to be held here Wednesday, professed ignorance of the circumstances surrounding the tragic death of her employer, William R. Fee, Alhambra bank president, whose body was found Tuesday by a searching party in the San Bernardino mountains near a cabin maintained by Miss Watkins. Sheriff W. R. Shay believes the banker was murdered.

Mr. Fee had been missing since last Saturday afternoon when he journeyed to the mountains with his wife. He was last seen when he told her he was going to repair a radio aerial as he left the mountain place owned by a Los Angeles banker and occupied by the Fees.

Accounts of the three banks in Alhambra, San Gabriel and Los Angeles with which Fee was connected, were closely examined after his disappearance. All were found to be in order.

Peking.—General Feng Yu Hsiang, the "Chinese general" who overthrew the recent Chinese government of President Tso K'un and ousted the principal military leader, General Wu Pei Fu, issued a statement Wednesday declaring that as there was no need of his military services during the reconstruction period he planned to leave soon for a tour of Europe and America.

FLOAT TANKER AFTER OIL IS JETTISONED

By Associated Press

Minneapolis.—The tanker Trinidad, Port Arthur, Tex., for Beverly, which went ashore Tuesday night on Baker's island, near this city, was floated early Wednesday after 2,500 gallons of oil had been removed by a lighter. The vessel was leaking but the extent of the damage to her plates was not known.

Queue Forms To Hear Indian Prince's Tale

By Associated Press

London.—The Paris hotel apartment scandal in which it is alleged "Mr. A," a wealthy Indian prince, was entangled with pretty Mrs. C. S. Robinson, wife of a former bookmaker, was described in detail Wednesday when Montague Noel Newton, who Tuesday testified that he had joined in a conspiracy to extort a huge sum from the potentate, resumed the stand in the trial of Mr. Robinson's suit against the Midland bank.

The whole affair was arranged in advance, Newton said, by "Mr. A's" aide de camp, Mrs. Robinson, with the active assistance of a Mrs. Bevan who was her confidante, previously had suggested that the scene should be enacted in Paris rather than in London, where Mrs. Robinson first became intimate with the prince, Newton declared.

The witness told the court he had received final instructions the night before, and that early in the morning he went to the hotel where, unchallenged, he proceeded directly to the prince's suite, opened the door and assuming the role of Mrs. Robinson's husband, informed the potentate he had "gotten the evidence he wanted." He said Mrs. Robinson, carrying out her role, attacked him, shouting "my brute of a husband," and that the prince fled. Intervenor.

So great was the interest in Newton's testimony that a queue formed outside the law courts shortly after midnight. There were several women waiting in the line.

EX-BANKER FACES LARCENY CHARGE

Three Lakes Man Held in $2,500 Bonds on Accusation of Louisiana Woman

By Associated Press

Chicago.—Clark Kunev, former banker of Three Lakes, Wis., was held to the Cook-co Grand jury here Wednesday in bonds of $2,500 on complaint of larceny preferred by Mrs. Cecil Ware of New Orleans, La. Mrs. Ware, wife of a New Orleans capitalist, charged Kunev with larceny of "old fashioned" diamond rings valued at $8,000 in Cook-co.

Counsel for Mrs. Ware said that the entire litigation brought by her against Kunev, including chancery suits in New Orleans, involved between $60,000 and $80,000. The plaintiff alleges that Kunev, whom she met socially in New Orleans in 1922, after gaining her confidence, persuaded her to entrust moneys and rings in his hands.

Mrs. Ware testified that she missed two rings after removing them in a hotel here and that Kunev when questioned about them advised her to let him take care of them, promising to return them. She said they were never returned.

Kunev controls farms at Three Lakes, a large scale incorporated farming enterprise producing seed potatoes.

UNDECIDED IF DAWES WILL SIT IN CABINET

Washington, D. C.—Whether Charles G. Dawes, vice president elect, will sit in the cabinet meetings after next March 4, has not been decided although Mr. Dawes indicated last summer to President Coolidge he did not desire to do so.

The custom was inaugurated by President Harding and as vice president Mr. Coolidge attended the regular meetings of the cabinet. The question was talked over briefly by the president with Mr. Dawes when they met last summer at Plymouth, Vt.

DEPRESSION IN CATTLE RAISING BRINGS ANXIETY

Slump in Livestock Industry Is Chief Question Before New Commission

BLAME NUMBER OF CAUSES

Problem of Marketing Must Be Solved Before Other Problems
Are Faced

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co., Washington, D. C.—The usual predictions are being made that America will face an era of high prices in meats and a cattle shortage three years hence because of the large quantity of breeding animals being led to slaughter. The depression in the livestock industry is of no little concern here as the market is glutted and prices are down. Indeed, this is the only phase of the agricultural situation which is conspicuous in the discussions of farm relief at the moment.

Just what are the factors most responsible for the depression, therefore, are matters on which official Washington is not yet well informed. In the 18 states in which cattle raising is an important industry the opinions of the cattle men seem to differ. Some say the drought is the principal reason for the poor condition of the cattle sent to market and the low prices offered. Others say it is the high price of corn which makes the farmer in the corn belt less anxious to buy from the range. Still another contention is that the cattle men are not getting out of their production the proper proportion of what the consumer is paying for the meat he buys.

MARKETING IS PROBLEM

Basically the question of marketing cattle like the problem of marketing other agricultural products is looked upon as one that has to be solved before any of the other factors can be clearly marked out and tackled. The suggestion has been made to the new agricultural commission presided over by former Governor Carey of Wisconsin that co-operative marketing societies be formed for the handling of cattle just as has been suggested for other commodities. In periods of depression there is a glut on the market due either to inability to get the proper extension of credit or to an individual unwillingness to hold in the face of adverse market situation. The co-operative idea has been responsible for the recent orderly marketing of some products and while no definite plan has been worked out for livestock except that credit facilities are better now than they were a few years ago the authorities here recognize that a solution is essential.

There is some hope that the agricultural commission will give its first attention to the livestock problem and possibly present in January a helpful plan whether it relates to legislation or the application of the co-operative idea to the cattle industry.

The new commission is really at the moment more important so far as agricultural policy is concerned than its department of Agriculture itself.

Assistant Secretary Gore, who has been appointed secretary to serve until March 4 only because he has been elected governor of West Virginia, will not have the opportunity to do more than keep things going as they are in the agricultural department. The new secretary will no doubt be chosen when some suggestions on policy have been made from the new commission and it would not be surprising if some member of the commission were to be appointed secretary of agriculture to carry forward the work of the commission.

CURTIS CERTAIN TO LEAD SENATE

Selection of Kansas Senator
Regarded as Foregone
Conclusion

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—Selection of a leader will comprise the entire program for consideration by the Republican senate caucus Friday, according to party chiefs already on the scene.

With all committee assignments holding over from the last session, they said, and the legislative program awaiting the impulse to be given by President Coolidge's message, subjects for discussion necessarily would be restricted. It is regarded as a foregone conclusion on Capitol hill that Senator Curtis of Kansas will be given the post of leader without material opposition.

Reports that a fight might be started early in the coming session of the senate to elect Senator Cummins of Iowa to the post of president pro tempore, were not credited by veteran parliamentarians who pointed out that like the committee assignments, this was a settled fact until the new senate convened.

Khartoum, Sudan.—The Egyptian units of the Egyptian army have received orders to evacuate the Sudan forthwith. The Fourth battalion already has left. The Third battalion with artillery will leave shortly.

London.—Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt, informed the British government in a message Wednesday that the situation in Egypt was much easier as the result of the respite since the resignation of the Egyptian cabinet.

The possibility of serious riots in Cairo and other centers, he said, was greatly reduced. Lord Allenby, it is said in official quarters, believes the Zivvar Pasha cabinet will accept the remaining British demands or open direct negotiations with Great Britain for settlement of the differences existing between the governments.

GERMAN AIR GIANT ON ROLLS OF NAVY AS 'LOS ANGELES'

Great Dirigible Is Rechristened
by Mrs. Coolidge Before
Large Crowd

Washington, D. C.—The American Navy boasts another giant of the air Wednesday as its list of formally commissioned ships, ZR-3, the designation under which the great German built dirigible dared the expanse of Atlantic waters to reach her destined homeland, has passed into the navy rolls where reads instead "Los Angeles," a name accorded with the successful mission must follow under the agreement of her building.

The airship was thus rechristened Tuesday by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the nation's president, after charming the capital's eye and stirring its pride with a graceful descent from her hangar at Lakehurst where, returning, she resumes Wednesday, awaiting a future of ambitious hopes and plans. Although designed for non-military purposes only the giant ship will remain for the present in the keeping of the navy until her future career has been definitely marked out.

Lakehurst, N. J.—The German built dirigible Los Angeles, formerly the ZR-3, is in her hangar Wednesday beside her sister ship, Shenandoah, after her trip to Washington Tuesday where she was christened by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge in the presence of a notable assemblage.

Commander Jacob M. Klein Jr., who was in command, said that the ship had a buoyancy of about 85 per cent when she left Lakehurst, but was unable to tell how many cubic feet of helium had been released in order to make a landing for the christening ceremonies. The landing was effected on a second try.

CHICAGO PLANS RECORD

When You Write the Right Kind of Writing—

And when you shape it into a little classified ad and deposit it in the right kind of a classified medium—
And when that medium happens to be the classified section of The Appleton Post-Crescent.
And when the ad calls for a comfortable room with morning and evening meals—
You may be sure that you will be in the same mood as Miss Clara Kirchberger of Appleton who is now on her light and airy way to comfortable new quarters.
Miss Kirchberger said that as soon as her ad appeared, she had so many calls she could not attend to her business. People who don't have the time to look around the city for the kind of rooms or apartments they want, can send a Post-Crescent ad on this errand for them—with every assurance that it just can't fail them.

Ancient Ruins Discovered by Eastern Expedition Show
Old Customs

Yalovach, Asia Minor.—The remains of a massive triumphal arch believed to have been constructed in the early part of the first century A. D. Latin inscriptions of that century, and a head of Augustus in white marble, are among archaeological finds which have been unearthed by the University of Michigan expedition which is excavating under the direction of Prof. David M. Robinson of Johns Hopkins University in Asia Minor. It was this expedition which recently uncovered the foundations of a large early Christian church.

The arch, which was recently discovered, spanned a road near the base of the large oval hill on which the city stood. The road probably connected with the highway to Lystra.

The arch had a single passage-way with a span of about fourteen feet. The piers contained arched recesses as if for statues. They were embellished with superimposed pilasters, enclosing two varieties of the Corinthian order. These carried the main entablature, of which the architecture bore an inscription in bronze letters six inches high. Only one of the letters having been found, buried in the earth where it fell, but from the holes in which the letters were fastened it will be possible to decipher the inscription.

Important among other recent finds is the head of Augustus, which in respect to technical skill and expressiveness is reported to rival the best of the remarkable series of sculptured portraits of this emperor in European galleries.

Another interesting discovery is a long Latin inscription in which are recorded the efforts of Antistius Rusticus, a Roman governor in office near the end of the first century to control the price of grain in time of famine so as to prevent profiteering and also to provide sufficient food until the next crop. This Antistius died in Asia Minor and his ashes were carried by his wife Nigmina in a small urn in her hands all the way to Italy. Her devotion is recorded in a famous epigram by the Roman poet Martial, who was a contemporary.

The ruins of Antioch in Pisidia are near Yalovach, northwest of Bona which was the ancient Iconium. Both Antioch and Iconium had much a reputation in the early church because of their association with the missionary work of Paul and Barnabas.

The wages paid to the workmen employed in the digging have been a godsend to the natives, many of whom were at the point of starvation owing to failure of crops in the region last season similar to that recorded in the inscription of Antistius Rusticus.

BOTH NEGLIGENT:
NEITHER COLLECTS

In a verdict based upon eleven questions submitted to it, a jury in circuit court Tuesday morning held the plaintiff's wife and the defendant guilty of negligence in the automobile damage suit of Walter Cooper, Jr., vs. George Reimer, and thus made it impossible for either party to collect damages.

The suit had been brought by Mr. Cooper who asked for $1,000 damages and a counterclaim covering damages to his car and personal injuries was filed by the defendant. The claims were based upon an accident which happened at Kimberly several years ago. Mrs. Cooper drove the car that collided with that of Mr. Reimer. Leonard and Stalder represented the plaintiff and Rooney and Grogan represented the defendant.

City Joins Thursday In Service Of Thanks

Appleton people will emulate the pilgrims who originated the Thanksgiving holiday when they gather at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 10 o'clock Thursday morning for a union religious service in observance of the day. It will be the occasion of prayer and praise for the prosperity which the people of America boast.

Dr. Vivian R. Scott will give the address, choosing as his subject, The National Job. The Rev. J. L. Menzies will preside and will read President Coolidge's Thanksgiving proclamation.

Music for the service includes an anthem by the Presbyterian choir, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" (Steiner) with baritone solo by Paul Cary and soprano solo by Mrs. S. W. Murphy. A solo will be sung after the sermon by Mrs. Marie L. Boehm.

Prayer will be offered by Dr. J. H. Tippet and the benediction by the Rev. W. R. Wetzel. An offering will be taken for the American Red Cross.

BIRTHS

A son was born Tuesday night to Mr. and Mrs. George Younger, of Fond du Lac. Mrs. Younger formerly was Miss Nellie Davis of Appleton. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schaefer, 441 Leest, Wednesday morning.

CITY HAD $42,000 BALANCE ON NOV. 1 IN GENERAL FUND

Three Quarters of Million Was Grand Total of All Funds on That Date

Appleton had a balance of $41,949.35 in its general fund on Nov. 1, 1924, according to the monthly report of P. B. Bachman, city treasurer. Balances in all funds, including monies invested in bonds, totaled $735,875.85. Receipts for the month amounted to $51,546.71 and expenditures were $163,158.03.

General fund receipts for October amounted to $22,198.97, the report showed. There was a heavy drain on the treasury for the month, as $59,090.21 was expended during the same period. With what money was carried over from September, the general fund still had $41,949.35 on Nov. 1.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS

Additional other funds of the city during the month were small except for the high school fund and that of the waterworks. Receipts in the former were $17,125.23 and in the latter $10,209.

The largest expenditures for October were from the junior high school fund to pay obligations of the contractors. The amount thus spent was $50,451. The treasurer paid out $11,502.42 from the bridge fund, $18,021.72 from the high school fund and $17,393.61 from the waterworks fund. Other payments were: Vocational school and $4,501.66, library fund $1,173.12, firemen's pension fund $209.25, police pension fund $163.33, park board $295, junior high school bond interest $178.06, teachers' retirement fund $45.84, interest on waterworks bonds $517.50, aid to exceptional children $600.

NEARLY HALF MILLION CASH

Cash on hand and in the bank amounted to $435,332.44, and bonds and investments totaled $572,717.82, making the grand total $735,875.85.

Balances reported by the treasurer as of Nov. 1 were: General fund $41,949.35, bridge fund $54,094.00, junior high school building fund $345,300.52, high school $12,552.64, library $4,175.24, vocational school $4,352.84, firemen's pension fund $23,578.27, police pension fund $7,051.90, waterworks fund $70,851.96, junior high school bond interest $154.86, waterworks bond interest $680, waterworks reserve fund $3,665.25, park board $2,300.50.

MOTORISTS MUST MAKE OWN TAG APPLICATIONS

Automobile owners must make direct application for their 1925 licenses and not obtain them through automobile dealers or other agencies as in the past, according to a notice from Fred Zimmerman, secretary of state, received by County Clerk McAllister Wednesday.

"Do not let applicants pay you direct for this license," the instructions state. "Police officers will not recognize any receipt except that of the secretary of state."

There is now being sent out to all dealers, police, county officers, post masters, and banks a new schedule of weights which should be consulted and the new rate used regardless of the 1924 weight.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

YOUTHS GET EXPERIENCE IN "SELLING THEMSELVES"

English classes at Appleton vocational school under the direction of E. M. Laidlaw are working on practical problems in business training. In connection with the "sell yourself" idea which was being worked out, pupils were given a chance to apply for positions. One boy acted as employment manager and another as shop foreman for a concern just starting business. Other pupils then applied for positions, stating the definite work they were able to do in the plant. The manager and the foreman endeavored to have the applicants tell as much about himself as possible and asked him all sorts of technical questions on the work he claimed he could perform. The real object of this type of work is to teach applicants to come out with their thoughts and tell what they can do without having to be pushed for answers by the manager, instead of bringing out the "sell yourself" idea.

TWO OUTAGAMIE-CO YOUNG MEN AT DAIRY SCHOOL

Outagamie-co is represented by two students, Harold F. Berg and Lawrence Hanson, at the annual winter short course at the Wisconsin Dairy school, which is a part of the state college of agriculture. Of the 80 students enrolled, 11 are Badgers. Students representing the extremes of the country are in attendance, as well as as two from South America. The east is represented by Vermont and Connecticut, the west by Washington and the south by Alabama. Future butter and cheese makers from states and countries other than Wisconsin include three from Minnesota and Iowa, two from Connecticut and Illinois and one from Vermont, Ohio, Alabama, Washington, Indiana, Maryland and Peru and Columbia, South America. Sauk-co leads the Wisconsin groups with six students, while Marathon and Waupaca-cos have five each.

COW POPULATION OF COUNTY IS INCREASING

Outagamie-co's dairy cow production is increasing according to figures announced by the Blue Valley Creamery institute. The statement covers an area embracing approximately one eighth of the state in this section, and is believed to hold true for the county proper.

A 3x6 per cent gain in the number of dairy cows two years old and over is noted for the district over the preceding year, while the increase for the state as a whole was 4 1/2 per cent as compared with 1923. The entire United States shows an increase of 6 per cent, government figures show.

SAGLESS APPROACH BUILT AT BRIDGE

Paving at North End of Cherry- st Structure Not Hampered Thus Far by Weather

Paving of the north approach to Cherry-st bridge is proceeding rapidly but more than a week will be required to complete it due to the manner in which the construction work is being done.

The pavement is being laid with bridge construction instead of following the usual plan of filling in the gap with dirt and laying concrete on top. Concrete abutments are being built and steel beams laid on top just the same as on the bridge itself. The concrete pavement then will be placed on these supports.

Sagging of the pavement leading up to the bridge will be prevented, eliminating the usual bump experienced by cars when they start across Concrete laid on dirt filling usually sags and several of the bridge approaches in Appleton built that way cause trouble and expense every year.

Cost of doing the work in bridge-building style is somewhat higher than the other but is the cheapest in the end, the city officials believe.

If weather continues mild for a week or ten days the paving will be finished without difficulty and the bridge then will be opened to traffic. The south approach has been cinder ed and is ready for use when needed.

The number of heifers 1 to 2 years old as compared to the total number of cows in this district seem to be above the average, indicating the intention to bring more young stock into milk in the near future.

WORK ON SCHEDULE FOR TWO TOURS BY GLEE CLUB

According to Wayne H. Parker, 24, of Marshfield, manager of 1924-25 Lawrence glee club, date are being arranged with localities which the club plans to include in its tours, and a complete schedule will soon be announced.

Tentative plans provide for two tours. One, a ten day trip beginning Feb. 16, will include many important towns of northern Wisconsin and Michigan. A longer trip beginning March 24 will embrace southern cities as far as Chicago and a return by way of Milwaukee.

In the meantime, the club is practicing diligently under the direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman of the Conservatory. The greatest difficulty seems to be the filling of the positions of last year soloists, who have not returned.

HEARING ON PHONE RATE SET FOR DEC. 3

A second hearing on the application of the Wisconsin Telephone company for authority to increase the telephone rates at the Appleton exchange will be conducted by the state railroad rate commission on Dec. 3 at Madison. The hearing will be open to the public and will start at 10 o'clock in the forenoon in the offices of the commission in the capitol, according to an announcement from William M. Dinneen, secretary of the commission. A hearing on the application was held in the courthouse at Appleton several weeks ago, but in view of the fact that it was impossible to complete the business, a further hearing was announced.

Wisconsin

Has the Ability to BUY and the Willingness to SPEND

OVER a billion dollars annually paid in salaries and wages to 303,948 workers in Wisconsin's highly diversified manufacturing industries and to the state's 189,295 farmers for their farm and dairy produce — that is part of the sum available for spending in the Wisconsin market!

Wisconsin has the ability to buy even at times when other markets are at a standstill. And her willingness to spend is graphically reflected in the ready sale of automobiles, radios, musical instruments, and other highly specialized products throughout the state.

Because Wisconsin leads the country by a wide margin, both in the matter of dairy production and diversity of manufacturing industries, she also leads as a permanent, profitable market for all kinds of manufactured products. Prosperity here is continuous. The Wisconsin market is permanent.

And the key to this better market is the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper, which gives admission to 715,000 prosperous Wisconsin homes, served through 34,807 retail outlets. For further information address a request for particulars to Secretary, 421 Sycamore St., Milwaukee, Wis.

THANKSGIVING
The first act of the Pilgrims on entering the new land was to fall on their knees and thank God for the preservation of their lives on the long voyage of the Mayflower. The bleak shores and the wilderness that lay before them to conquer—the hardships that they were certain to encounter—did not awe them. Their thought was of gratitude for their preservation to follow the great ideals that caused them to set out on the journey. They saw the blessings in the opportunity that lay before them—blessings to themselves and to mankind in the opening of a new land to freedom and progress for the race.

The voyage of progress naturally is never ending. When we attain one point that guided our course for a time, we find others beyond beckoning to us. The first object of the Pilgrims, of course, was to reach the new land; but on reaching it, their greater life just began. Their first dream of the development of the new country may seem very limited to us. But development is by degree. After all that has been accomplished, we still feel sometimes as if the human race were just beginning to develop.

So the attitude for us today should be that of the Pilgrims on the first Thanksgiving on these shores. The visions of the blessings to us and to the world through us that rise along our true course (should cause us, at least for the moment, to forget the comparatively trifling hardships of the period.

Bless with victory and peace . . . Praise the Power that has made and preserved us as a nation.

What is there before us to awe a people who conquered a wilderness, who when but few in numbers established a republic, who passed through a civil war, who abolished slavery, who brought great private corporations under control, who started a number of smaller peoples on the way to self-government—who furnished the balance of power that brought victory for democracy in a World war? Thinking of these things, of the Pilgrims looking out hopefully upon a wilderness, of Washington sustained in Valley Forge by high ideals and trust in God, of Lincoln in the same spirit guiding the nation through one of its darkest periods—thinking of what has been accomplished by the American people and of the storms through which they have passed, who among them today can fail to have a thought of thankfulness?

But as we give thanks for the preservation of our nation on its great voyage of progress, we must think also of our responsibilities of stewardship of such marvelous blessings. Let us think of ourselves not as having attained our goal, but simply, in the spirit of progress and a great destiny, as having arrived at the shores of another vast opportunity for serving humanity. Our unprecedented power has been entrusted to us to use not merely for our own purposes, but for the good of all humanity. We are taught that the strong should help bear the burden of the weak, the fortunate show compassion for the unfortunate and the enlightened be eyes to the blind. The highest expression of gratitude for blessings received in service to the cause of a better world for all the children of God.

THE RELIGIOUS REVIVAL
Addressing the American Country Life association at the annual convention, Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield declared that we must "take religion much more or much less seriously." Dr. Butterfield is president of the Michigan Agriculture College and of the organization to which he spoke. He argued that Christian principles are applicable to every individual and social problem. If they are not practiced, "they are theoretically abstractions." Religion and science, he contended, should work together. We are "on the eve of a great religious revival," the leadership of which "is distinctly conscious that the industrial struggle and puzzling economic questions must be worked out in the light of the religious idea."

Other publicists have been charging that the church is not modernizing its teachings and operations to conform to modern business and the new modes of living. From their standpoint the reason the church is not as influential as it should be is that the church fails to take advantage of its opportunities.

Would it not be better to state it that the people have not as yet been able to conform their mode of living to established principles of religion and morals? The moral law cannot change with changes in the mode of living, for it is eternal. The mode of living must be necessarily adjusted to the moral law. Is it not a fact that the church has not depended on its principles and teachings to reach modern life? Is it not a fact that the church, alarmed at breaches of the moral law and at a spiritual indifference, has resorted too much to legislation and mass action for reform instead of relying on its own power, especially over the individual?

As Dr. Butterfield says, our mode of living, our business and our social problems are susceptible to regulation by religion. Furthermore, the people must be governed by the religion of Christ if they are to survive socially and nationally. Civilization can endure only on the foundation of christianity. Moreover, it must be a spiritual acceptance of christianity, not a legal compliance with the demands of the church. The church should be careful lest it carry these demands too far.

THE HUNTER'S REWARD
"Many hunters returned unsuccessful," says a news report, commenting on the hunting season. No real hunter ever is "unsuccessful." He may not bring game back to the city, but he returns a better man physically for his outing.

There is more to hunting than the killing of game, just as there is more in fishing than catching fish. The stay-at-home giggles inanely when he sees an angler or gunner trudging home at twilight with empty creel or bag, but if he could only get it through his skull the laugh is really on him. Of course, there are pot-hunters and fishermen whose practices bar them from the ranks of sportsmen, but they are not the men who come home from stream or woods empty-handed.

The true sportsman delights in the game rather than the score. A full creel or a well-filled bag is his trophy of success. But he knows that no man can hope to win all the time and he is quite content when he returns empty-handed, for he has had healthful recreation and has communed with nature in a manner that only the outdoor streams, from animals in field and woods; he has smelled the sweet odors of the forest, he has in his nostrils the tang of field and moorland, he has seen pictures artists have striven in vain to paint, he has found.

HOW NOT TO HANDLE STYES.
In our quarrel about styes, the day we arrived at the stage of full bloom and left the stye there. Now I suppose somebody will want to handle the blooming thing. Well, that goes to show how inattentive some readers are. I answered that question in the first quarrel. Didn't I say that the first rule in the treatment is not to handle it at all. That is, unless it is your intention and desire to raise a crop of styes. Styes are exactly like boils in their cultural characteristics, and in like boils in their cultural characteristics, and in like case the inquisitive fingers are all that is necessary to maintain a thriving succession of the little abscesses all season.
The same pus producing bacteria as those which cause ordinary boils are responsible for styes. The same scrupulous care is necessary in dealing with either condition to avoid reinfection. No finger should touch a stye. If your own or another's fingers insist on feeling it, then the fingers should be very carefully washed with soap and water immediately afterward and before they touch anything else. If this aseptic precaution is ignored, as it usually is by the lay folk, indeed by everybody except the physician or the nurse trained in the technique of asepsis, the germs are transferred to a new field, and presently a vigorous young stye grows there.
In obstinate cases of recurring styes a bacterin (commonly called bacterial vaccine) may be prepared from the strain of germs in the styes and administered by the physician with excellent results. If any crusts form on the lid margins, they should be removed by gentle bathing with warm water soda solution, a teaspoonful of soda (saleratus) in a quart of water, in which a teaspoonful of table salt is dissolved. If the lid margins are inflamed, smear them at night with a very little 1 per cent yellow ointment of mercury ointment. If the lids are sticky mornings, smear the margins at night with a little sterile petroleum jelly from a collapsible tube.
Unless you are looking for sympathy and consolation, never poultice a stye. For the same reason you should never poultice a boil. Never apply tea leaves or any outlandish remedy purporting to be the discovery of an old Indian. That Indian has spoiled more than his bushel of eyes, and his technique is not yet perfected.
A large hot boracic acid solution compress—thick folds of gauze kept moist with the boracic acid solution—will serve every good purpose you can ascribe to the poultice and do no harm.
When the stye points, showing a little yellow spot, should be immediately opened and drained. This is for the physician to do. Sometimes, however, it may be opened and drained by merely plucking the eyelash with a pair of tweezers.
The eyelid is sometimes enormously swollen and edematous in the inflammatory stage of stye. This looks tough, but it is nothing to be alarmed about. Physicians believe that styes may be aborted in some cases if the margin of the lid is touched with pure phenol or tincture of iodine, or a strong solution of zinc sulphate (about 20 grains to the ounce of water) at the first sign of trouble. Any of these things can be safely applied only by a physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Injury and Cancer.
Is there anything in the theory that if a woman's breast is injured she is apt to develop a cancer at the point of injury later on? (S. B. W.)
Answer.—There is considerable evidence that any injury of any part of the body predisposes to cancer, especially if some soreness or lump or other effect remains long after the injury. The cause of cancer is not yet definitely known, but we know that prolonged slight irritation is a contributing factor. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB
Mary had a little lamb.
She kept it in her suite.
For little tricks of devilry
The lamb was hard to beat.

One day while Mary was at home,
She had a handsome caller,
The lamb ate up his hat and stick
And chewed off half his collar.

Mary drove her car one day,
'Twas just a tiny flivver.
The lamb ate both the spare and rim
And had a bilious liver.

Mary went a voyaging
Upon an ocean liner;
At dinner-time the people stood—
The lamb had wrecked the dinner.

Now, gentle reader, let me say,
This sheep that wrecked the boat
No longer was a playful lamb,
But a common Billy Goat.

An Outagamie-co rural school teacher was glad that Thanksgiving day comes on a Thursday this year, but Salesman Harry went one better when he told an advertiser, "They are not going to print a paper on Thursday today."

Leaves Mark As Master Of Football

(From The Outlook.)
The late Percy Houghton, or as he was more familiarly known, P. D., master of American college football, had the gift of leadership, and the added asset of an incisive and inquisitive mind. A psychologist always, he ruled not only his players and bent them to his precise will, but he dominated the very supporters in the stands, and brought to life that great roar of cheering at the exact moment that has so often terrorized Harvard's opponents.

For Houghton was first, last and all the time, the complete dramatist. His teams marched to the beat of some mysterious inner cadence, inexorably exact as the metronome, but these teams marched like an army with banners.
He invented the modern generalship, the complete domination of the football terrain by the cold and calculating brain of the quarterback. He chose brains, not brawn, for his field generals, and required nothing further of them than to take command of every situation as it arose. This generalship aimed to bring the team at least five times in the course of a game into what are termed the "master positions" from which to score, and to keep his opponents' attainment down to much lesser figure. Most of his teams accomplished just this. The process has come to be known as the "standard generalship."

Another invention was the football of cadence—into the signal system that tolled off the single numbers like a drill-sergeant calling the bear for quick-time marching was built the starting signal that loosed the Criminal avalanche. He invented the system of running the defense by signal, and finding a leader for that defense equipped with as much brains as the attacking field general. He developed scientific punting and drop-kicking to a point never before attained, overlooking none of the arms of offense, and he brought out specialist after specialist. His own personal genius is lost, but his discoveries remain, and the system is at hand for anyone to use.

Organization, leadership, coaching the coaches, insistent attention to detail, these are a few of the things that Houghton brought into the light. But above all, he believed in drill. He invented the soft scrimmage, that worked for precision, without risking injury. He never believed that an exhausted player was in any condition to learn.

There was a great deal of personal sacrifice in playing for Houghton and a deal of monotony. He has been called a coach of "hunches." No man evaluated the human element in football with greater accuracy. He has left behind him a system understood and taught by many men—among them his best pupils—a system without fundamental flaw, and of lasting benefit to the game itself.

Newest In Art Will Be Shown Here

The only new thing in art in 3,000 years the Clavilux or color organ—will be brought to Appleton on Wednesday, Dec. 10, by Appleton Women's club. This marvelous new entertainment, which has thrilled huge audiences in all of the larger cities is something so radically different from any of the arts that it is taking the country by storm.

Clavilux is so new that to millions of people even the name is unknown, but those who have had an opportunity to see this splendid art have great faith in its possibilities. Even in its present comparatively undeveloped stage it is one of the marvels of the world, a thing of beauty surpassing anything existing, heretofore.

And what is Clavilux? It is a color symphony in which color is used to intensify the eye as sound is used to entertain the ear in music. Color combinations give the same impressions to the eye as sound combinations impress the ear in an orchestra or organ number. It is a new art but with greater possibilities than all the others.

The instrument which causes the color combinations is the invention of Thomas Wilford who will conduct the performance. Mr. Wilford spent 16 years working on his instrument.

Three C.O.F. Courts Unite To Give Party

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obligating you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread: the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent, lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SCHOOL THRIFT DROPS OFF AS CHRISTMAS APPROACHES

Kaukauna—A quiet campaign during last week to raise the thrift percentage in the high school ended in failure when bank day reports Tuesday showed a small decrease in the number of bank depositors. Only 74 per cent of the students turned in their weekly savings. The approach of the Christmas season is blamed for the condition. The amount received also was considerably lower than last week.
Two classes dropped out of the 100 per cent column, leaving only four classes with that honor this week. The thrift banner was captured by Miss Carol Boorman's cooking class.
A large gain in depositors was recorded in the junior high school, however, and teachers are expecting several perfect records next bank day. Seventh grade "A" group reached the 50 per cent mark while the eighth grade "A" group came up to 70 per cent but the "B" group was only 50 per cent thrifty.

TWO CHURCHES WILL HOLD THANKSGIVING SERVICES

Kaukauna—Thanksgiving day will be observed with special church worship in two local churches, the Trinity Lutheran church and Reformed church. Services in the former will be held in the German language Thursday morning at 9:30. At 7:30 in the evening worship will be conducted in the English language. In Reformed church services will be conducted only in the German language beginning at 9:30 in the morning.

SCHOOL KIDS GET TWO DAY VACATION FOR TURKEY DAY

Kaukauna—City school closed Wednesday afternoon for the remainder of the week because of Thanksgiving. Practically all out of town teachers left Wednesday night for their homes. In the high school the report cards of the second six weeks period were at the school. Olla C. Jurek, principal, has asked parents to see that the cards are brought home.

CHIMNEY FIRE AT ST. MARY CHURCH CAUSES NO DAMAGE

Kaukauna—The fire department was called out about 4:30 Tuesday afternoon to St. Mary church where a few sparks issuing from the chimney caused some alarm. There was little loss, however, and no damage resulted.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tousey and son Harold of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Jensen of Milwaukee, visited in Kaukauna Wednesday where they will spend Thanksgiving.
Miss Odahab Hahnemann left Wednesday afternoon to spend remainder of the week in Milwaukee and Waukegan, Ill.
Miss Laura Klubb autored to Sheboygan Wednesday and returned with her cousin, who is a student at Reformed Mission house.
Peter Rowenta has completed a new house on his farm in the town of Ellington.

Social Items

Kaukauna—An important meeting of Kaukauna Council, Knights of Columbus was held Monday evening in K. C. hall. Nine candidates received the initiatory degree. E. A. Brewster was elected financial secretary to succeed the late John Klubb. A banquet and social hour followed the meeting.
A regular meeting of Odile chapter, No. 184, Order of Eastern Star, will be held at 7:30 Friday evening in Masonic hall. Plans had been started to observe associate matrons' night but arrangements were postponed indefinitely on account of the celebration at the Masonic temple in Appleton.
The Good Time club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Robert Roberts, 158 Sixth st. Cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Peter Bell and Mrs. Frank Kobussen. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. William Schultz, 308 Dixon st.
A card party and dance will be given Friday evening in Elk hall for Kaukauna branch No. 64, Catholic Knights of Wisconsin. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Electric City orchestra.

WEDDINGS AMONG COUNTY'S PEOPLE

WELHOUSE—MIX
Special to Post-Crescent
Little Chute—The marriage of Miss Sylvia Welhouse of this village, and Bernard Mix of Menasha, took place at St. John church at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Rev. John J. Sprangers performed the ceremony. The attending couple was Miss Agnes DeNoble of Hortonville, and Levi Welhouse, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to about 25 guests at the Wilbur Began home. Mr. and Mrs. Mix will make their home in Menasha.

H. S. WRITES PARENTS WHEN PUPILS SLUMP

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—It has been the custom in New London high school to inform a student's parents when the student fails in a subject in school. The "informing" has always been done by letter, sent through the student himself.
However, it has been discovered that several of these letters have not reached their destination, and in the future it will be the custom to have them sent by mail. About 60 different parents have been notified in this manner of the unsatisfactory work of pupils. All except 11 have been notified to respond and attempt to remedy matters.

New London—The Lions club, in part of the weekly meeting joined the Clintonville Lions club in celebrating the granting of their charter.

FEW CHANGES IN COUNTY SALARIES

Huffcut Encounters Opposition for Reelection as Waupaca-co Road Head

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The county board fixed the salaries of the county officers at the present session with little change. The county judge is to receive $5,000 commencing Jan. 1, 1926, the only noticeable change. Other salaries will be: County agent $500, matron of poor house $400, janitor of court-house, $1,200; undersheriff $1,000, Register of probate $1,000, clerk of court $900, with fees, county treasurer $1,500, county clerk $1,500, district attorney $1,000, highway commissioner $1,500, register of deeds $1,600, stenographer of district attorney $255, stenographer of highway commissioner $300.
John Huffcut, present county highway commissioner, was reelected by the board. Some opposition was raised against Mr. Huffcut by a few members but was quickly dropped after the first ballot.
Marriage licenses issued by County Clerk L. P. Shoemaker for the week ending Nov. 24 were as follows: Arnold Hoffmann, Larrabee to Gladys Russell, Larrabee; Herman J. Schmit, Winneconne to Mildred M. Murphy, Lebanon; Berkle Madison, Helvelia to Jesse Morrison, Joint Raymond Travis, Fremont to Freda Sommer, Little Chute.
The Arthur LaValle statutory case on the court calendar to be tried at the present term of circuit court was again continued. The court proceeded to hear minor civil cases. The jury was dismissed to Feb. 2 when a special session will be held.

H. S. PUPILS SHOWN UNUSUAL MONEY DISPLAY

New London—New London high school had the privilege Tuesday evening of viewing an unusual money display, through the courtesy of Robert Stone, instructor in economics in the local school. Mr. Stone obtained 11 pieces of currency at a local bank, and making a large poster, planned the bills on it and hung it on the high school bulletin board, where he carefully guarded it to make sure that it all remained where he put it. The display consisted of two gold certificates, one $20 and one $100, two silver certificates of $5 and $1, one national bank note of $10, one federal reserve note of $5, three U. S. notes of $10, $5, and $1, and two old original "greenbacks" of $10 each, the bills belonging to the first issue of greenbacks in 1869.
The high school commenced its sessions at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, and closed at 2:30 in order that some of the faculty might return to their homes in the afternoon to spend Thanksgiving. No school will be held in the city on Thursday and Friday.

17 COUNTIES IN CENSUS DISTRICT

156 Enumerators Will Take Farm Census Starting Next Month

Outagamie county is one of the 17 counties which make up Wisconsin No. 2 in the census of agriculture to be taken soon by the United States department of agriculture. Other counties in this district are, Brown, Door, Forest, Florence, Kewaunee, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Marinette, Oconto, Oneida, Portage, Shawano, Vilas, Waupaca and Wood. J. E. Collins, auditor, is the district supervisor. There are 156 enumerators for this district, who take care of all the census work. The 1920 census gives the district 42,761 farms, second among the five districts of the state. District No. 5, which has 19 counties, leads with 54,981 farms.

The first census of agriculture made by the federal government was in 1850. It was taken between Dec. 1, 1921 and Jan. 31, 1925. Because of the rapidly changing conditions of agriculture it was found that a census must be taken as often as every five years. As rapidly as possible after the receipt of returns, statements will be released by the census bureau in Washington relative to the production of the principal farm crops and the values of farm property including land, buildings, machinery and live stock.

The census will require the services of 15,000 to 20,000 enumerators among under the direction of 212 sub-district supervisors. The enumerators will be selected from the employees of the bureau of the census and the department of agriculture. Employees of the forest service will secure the census returns for most of the farms within the national forest reserves in Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

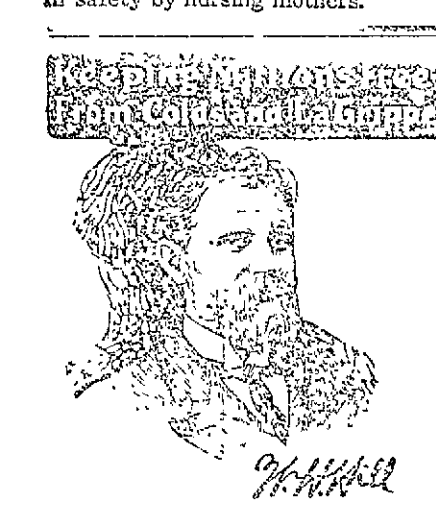

Postpone Meeting
Directors of the chamber of commerce will postpone their regular meeting for one week on account of Thanksgiving. The meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, but will be held on that day next week instead.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wis.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking this compound bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will give its praises in the future."
—Mrs. Ida Gehring, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after childbirth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after childbirth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

FARMERS SEEKING TURKEY THIEVES

Special to Post-Crescent
County Line—Turkey thieves were busy around here for several nights. Mrs. William Baril had four stolen. The thieves were not satisfied so returned again. They were fooled, however, as Mrs. Harry Burt was watching when they came to her place and she scared them away. There were two men in a Ford runabout with no lights. One was short and wore a light sheepskin coat. Everyone is watching for them, and a shower of lead awaits them if they come again.

Harry and Lute Burt, William Baril and George School were at Ingalls, Mich., hunting deer.

Louis Dashner and Arthur Childs returned home from up north, each with a big deer.

Joe Vose is seriously ill.

Roy Burt of Neenah is spending a few days at Little Rapids.

William Church was at Mountain hunting deer.

Charles Bain has left for Poplar River to work in the woods.

GREENVILLE NOTES

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Greenville — Catholic Knights of Wisconsin held a dancing party at Henry Probst hall with a large crowd attending. Those on the committee were Mrs. R. C. Trauba, George Deming and John J. Becker.

The funeral of Daniel Schulze, a well known resident of Greenville, was held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 16.

LAWRENCE BIGGEST METHODIST COLLEGE

Lawrence college is the largest college of Methodist denomination in the United States, according to a bulletin issued by the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church. It heads the list of twenty-five territory schools under direction of the governing board of the church. Dickinson and Simpson colleges are tied for second place.

Among the universities under the Methodist jurisdiction, Boston university is first, Northwestern university second, and Syracuse, third. The first named has 10,000 students, Northwestern, 7,500, and Syracuse, 5,000.

and was attended by a large number of people from here.

Theodore Schmit has left for Madison where he will attend the agricultural school.

Mr. Peter Meyer of Hilbert spent a week with her father, John Hilger.

Miss Gertrude Becker is assisting at the R. C. Trauba home.

Dr. P. L. Knapstein has returned from a week's deer hunting trip.

Mrs. Fred Braun was taken to a hospital where she was to submit to an operation.

Farmers in this locality are finishing their plowing.

BLACK CREEK CHURCH BAZAAR BRINGS IN $265

Special to Post-Crescent
Black Creek—The net proceeds are about $265 from the bazaar and chicken supper at St. John church. The Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Wetzel of Appleton and the Rev. and Mrs. A. Koluth of Neenah, were among those who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gerhard of Wausau, spent a day at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gerhard.

A dinner will be served Thanksgiving day at the A. G. Brusewitz home in Cuero by the Ladies Aid society of Emanuel Evangelical church of Cuero.

A large crowd attended the dance at the auditorium Wednesday evening given by Menning orchestra. Hi Colwell's orchestra of Manawa furnished music for a dance at the auditorium Tuesday evening, Nov. 25.

Mrs. John Storgeman of Shiocton called here Wednesday of last week.

Your repair man pays more for RUSCO than any other brake lining —but he doesn't charge you more!
IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a loss profit then if he sold you any other brand.
If he recommended and sold you a cheaper grade it would cost you the same, but he would make three times as much profit.
This is what properly adjusted Rusco-lined two-wheel brakes will do. The police stop-test standard is 20 feet, going at 15 miles an hour. Rusco-lined brakes do it in 8 feet. This has again been recently proved by a leading car manufacturer who standardizes on Rusco Lining.

Make This A Merry Christmas With Music

We are again on the threshold of Christmas—the finest festival of the year, and the question uppermost in our minds is, what to give our loved ones this Christmas.

Our answer is: "Make MUSIC the supreme Christmas Gift to your Home," for what is home without MUSIC? No finer influence can be imagined than the spirit of Music diffusing its noble atmosphere in the Music Lover's Home.

Here are a few suggestions for a Musical Christmas

A Piano

A Christmas gift for the whole family, a gift that gains in value year after year—that represents the finest investment for the home, is without doubt a piano, be it a GRAND—UPRIGHT—REPRODUCING—or PLAYER. At our store you will find a fine selection of these instruments; you cannot find a finer line anywhere. Our stock includes the following world renowned makes:

The STEINWAY—universally known as the "Standard by which all other pianos are measured."

The KURTZWANN—The Piano that endures.

The SCHUMANN—a piano of real musical worth.

The BRAMBACH—The smallest Baby Grand with a real Grand tone.

The GULBRANSEN Registering Piano—the only Registering Piano made—not a mere Player-Piano.

The CABLE-NELSON, and others.

Your piano is awaiting your careful inspection and examination at our store. Make your Christmas selection early!

A Phonograph

Another fine Christmas Gift for the entire household is a Phonograph. In our store you can hear, side by side the New Edison—Sonora—and New Columbia, each a leader in its class—Console and upright models in all finishes and at all prices.

A Small Instrument

Our small musical instrument department offers ideal suggestions for the gift for boys and girls. Nothing can do so much to make them popular as the possession and ability to play a musical instrument which they can carry along wherever they go. Violin Outfits, Saxophones, Band Instruments, Accordions, Hohner Harmonicas and all kinds of Musical Toys to delight the youngsters.

A Radio Set

A gift that will be appreciated by the entire family is a Radio Set. As with our other lines, our Radio Department offers nothing but "the best in Radio."

Radiola Super VIII—Super-Heterodyne—all the finest products of the Radio Corporation of America.

Ware Neutrodyne and Malone-Lemmon Neutrodyne Sets.

The Sonoradio—a combination of Radio with the Sonora Phonograph.

DOUBLE PROBLEM IS DISCUSSED IN SPITZER NOVEL

"He Who Would Be Free" Blazes New Trail in World of Fiction

BY ELEANOR WING

"Literature's Riddleman" Knows no secret. Who would be free, themselves must strike the blow."

So Lord Byron wrote, and tried to prove, coming down through posterity as a martyr to the cause of personal freedom. In our day, we should most certainly call him a radical. Marian Spitzer, author of "Who Would Be Free," published by Boni and Liveright, has presented a double problem in her novel—the cause of personal liberty, and the problem of Jewish convention. This is the first novel of its kind to actually interpret the feelings of a Jew in the Jewish blood in her effort to escape the stringent laws of clan, and the more severe ones of custom. Eleanor Hoffman has the stupendous task offered her of trying to convince her hide-bound family, that gentiles are as worthy friends as Jews, and that marriage is not the one ideal in all girls' lives.

We are always being told that sex is the overwhelming urge in the lives of most people, and are psychoanalyzed in many ways in order to prove it. Miss Spitzer takes the question of sex out of the clinic and makes it the wholesome heritage of normal everyday mortals.

Eleanor becomes a prisoner to her idea of freedom. She wants to belong to herself so utterly that when love comes she is afraid to recognize it for fear it will rob her of her hard-won independence. She has enough talent to welcome a great artist, but her one idea interferes with art which has a habit of asking everything.

Every character in the book is secondary to the heroine, and is important only in relation to her fight for freedom. They do not exist as entities, and Miss Spitzer has denied them lives of their own. Consequently, we are rather delighted, because we feel that so little is told us. It is true that he can see that Eleanor is the point around which a little sphere of people moves; but we miss the many little spheres, each revolving around the other, which makes up a complete world.

The Hoffman family life is tragic and beautiful in its adherence to the old traditions of the clan. Eleanor's defiance loses dignity, because the life is so really worth living. We sympathize with her desire for freedom from restraint, but wish that it were not carried so far. For most young people don't want to be tied to "sacred strings," but they fight more respectfully.

And the fight isn't really worth the effort in the end, because Eleanor finally comes to the conclusion that she has really shut out the world from her life. She will be lonely in time, although the bare walls and the solitude seem her ultimate attainment.

TEMPERANCE HYPOCRISY

My impression that temperance novels were seldom read is strengthened by the fact that almost the only one has been needed reprinting in all these hundreds upon which I have gazed is the only one with any real celebrity, the only one whose title the average person remembers: Arthur's "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room." There was something about that title which preserved it in the memories of many who never saw the book. Parodists and wits played with it, but even the author never reached such heights again. He had tried, earlier, with the feeble, "Six Nights with the Washingtonians" (i. e., the Washington Temperance Society), and twenty years later, in 1872, he tried again, frantically, with "Three Years in a Man-Trap," but the first fine flavor was gone. His goblet of water—had lost its sparkle.

Of course the fact that "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" in its dramatic version by William W. Pratt, held the stage for many years had much to do with its familiarity as a title. Probably it is still being played somewhere. The dreadful power of strong drink was never so thoroughly impressed upon me as when I sat, one afternoon in the early 80's, I imagine, and waited for the successive flings of the curtain, with its picture of the Bay of Naples, which separated us from the stage, in the Newburyport City hall. As the grog-shop was revealed in all its horrors we knew that dramatic realism was in our midst. But when the drink-crazed father hurled the rum bottle into the left wing, and the little daughter obediently trotted on from the right, exclaimed, "Oh, papa, you have killed me!" and fell dead in the centre of the stage, we suspected, as I have often suspected since, that Demon Rum does not always get fair treatment from his foes. We felt sure that not even a drunkard could pitch such a curve as that.

From "Temperance Novels" by Edmund Lester Pearson, in the November Scribner's Magazine.

BOOKS AND BOOK MEN

HISTORY BIASED

History, "new" or "old" is inevitably biased, and the most scientific historian is the one who most openly confesses his prejudices. Historians are particularly compelled to take sides in the central problems of human affairs; conservatism or progress. Individual historians, and among them some of the greatest, have been radicals. Put on the whole, the weight of history has been thrown on the conservative side, until the word radical has become synonymous with defect in the historical spirit. And this is as it should be. For the fundamental bias common to all historians, their professional deformation, is that history does matter; else they would be engaged upon some more profitable pursuit. The historian, as M. de la Palisse would have remarked, is essentially retrospective. He is the reverse of a Futurist; he is a Prophet of the Past. And this interest in

Booky Dawes Digs Up Old Dead Author

If you have read the two books in which Charles G. Dawes, vice president-elect, has described his work in the world war and as first director of the budget, your curiosity probably was aroused by Gen. Dawes' occasional reference therein to a name which means little or nothing even to well-read persons—the name of Balhazar Gracian.

Who was Balhazar Gracian? Not one person in a million today would ever know the name if it were not for Gen. Dawes' interest. And Gen. Dawes himself would never have known who Balhazar Gracian was had he not, in addition to being a business man, been "bookish."

Gen. Dawes reached France in August, 1917, plunged at once into his arduous job as general purchasing agent of the A. E. F., and Nov. 30, two months after his arrival, wrote in his diary:

"Yesterday was Thanksgiving and I took about my first half-holiday since coming to Paris. Gen. Harbord and I dug into second-hand books at Brenet's for an hour."

Many months afterward—Jan. 30, 1919—we find Gen. Dawes, still in Paris with Pershing, making the following entry in his diary:

"Balhazar Gracian made a remark several hundred years ago to the effect that it is not the applause which greets one on entrance, but on exit, which is important."

Gracian had evidently hooked the general and hooked him hard, and with the same epigram in each case, for on June 29, 1921, we find him saying at Washington, in the course of his first address as director of the budget:

"Right here there comes to me a statement of an old Spanish Jesuit monk named Balhazar Gracian: 'It is not the applause that greets one on entrance, but on exit that is important.'"

These two have not been the only occasions on which he has quoted the mysterious Balhazar.

RED PEPPER FOR COLDS IN CHEST

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. adv.

90 Per Cent of World's Motor Cars on Our Highways

There are 16,000,000 motor vehicles in the United States—approximately 90 per cent of all in the world.

This total is being increased at the rate of 4,000,000 a year.

What is the saturation point?

Ask any one of the 16,000,000 motorists trying to make headway through the countless traffic jams on some of our concrete highways. He will tell you, from the standpoint of comfort and safety in driving, the saturation point is already in sight.

Not a very encouraging outlook, is it, for the man about to buy his first automobile?

So you see car owners and prospective car owners are both interested—and have an immediate task confronting them.

What are you going to do about it? Even now you are curtailing the use of your car because you do not want to endure the discomfort, inconvenience and danger of traveling on congested, narrow highways.

Your highway officials need your support. They can't do much unless you stand squarely behind them.

To delay building more highways wide enough and strong enough to meet all the requirements of modern traffic will cost you more money than will an adequate system of Concrete Roads and Streets.

Milestones of Service

THIS rioting, pushing, fast-stepping age of ours, with all its complexity, concentration and achievements, never could have attained its present development had it not been for petroleum and the long list of useful products which stem from this one widely distributed raw material.

Today, when almost everything we do, from the felling of trees to the keeping of accounts, is accomplished with mechanical assistance, the refining of crude oil and the compounding of the numberless products derived from this base is one, if not the most essential of all industries.

From crude petroleum come the most readily procured, best and cheapest lubricating oils and greases, and from the same source we get gasoline, the most economical, most mobile and most compact source of power yet discovered.

In the upbuilding of this great industry the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a pioneer; an advanced worker on the forefront of progress.

Today, skillful, highly trained men working with every facility which science, or their own ingenuity can suggest, are striving to perfect still further, the scores of useful products going to the public under the brands of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Throughout the ten middle western states in which this company maintains distributing facilities, is an ever-growing organization working, building to insure every person in the territory getting standardized, superior quality petroleum products he needs, when and where he wants them.

And always the company is looking forward, building and training for the years to come.

Office boys of thirty years ago are Directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) today—office boys of today are being schooled, trained and developed for places on the Board thirty years from now.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of the record it has made in keeping ahead of the times, and believes that each progressive step has been marked by a milestone of service to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

Union School System Will Mean Big Saving In Cost Of City Schools

Electors of the four school districts in Appleton will be called upon Friday to decide whether the present antiquated district system shall give way to the "city plan," or unified system of schools which prevails in almost all of the cities of the United States.

The polls will be located in four of the district schools, namely, the First ward school, in the First district; Columbus school in the Second district; Washington school in the Third district; and the Fourth ward school in the Fourth district.

The referendum will be conducted through the medium of school meetings starting at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The meetings will be called to order and conducted just as any annual meeting. Then when the electors are ready to vote, a resolution will be introduced to hold the polls open from 2 to 3 o'clock in the evening to allow as many residents as possible to vote. Only qualified electors will be permitted to vote, and a registry will be kept of every person voting.

SUBMIT 2 QUESTIONS

Two questions will be submitted to the voters: "Shall the city school plan be adopted?" 2. "Shall the board of education be elective?" If the first is defeated, the second will have no effect. By the "city plan" is meant the union school system. If this system is adopted, one board of education will have the oversight of all the graded schools, as well as the junior high schools and the senior high school. If the voters decide the board shall be elective, seven members will be elected from the city at large in the regular city election next April. If the voters decide that the board shall not be elective, then either the mayor or the city council will appoint the board, which will consist of one member from each ward and three from the city at large, or nine in all. If the city doubles the number of wards, the board will consist of 16 members. An elective board is preferred by most educators in the city to keep the schools out of politics.

If the union school system is adopted, the board now in power will continue to function until the end of the present school year, which will be on July 1, 1925. This will give the new board opportunity to become acquainted with their duties under the new system.

WANT BETTER SYSTEM

The school referendum was called by the respective school district clerks upon the initiative of the school boards. Fairer and more adequate administration of the schools with less expense to the taxpayers was the reason for the referendum. The union system was endorsed both by the board of education and the Appleton common council.

Among the financial considerations influencing members or those bodies is the fact that general costs could be reduced through the operation of one administrative unit rather than four. There is in many respects a duplication of overhead that would be reduced under a central administration, it is pointed out.

This overhead is partly in the extra cost involved in having several independent purchasing departments. Often attempts have been made to have the districts cooperate to purchase supplies. The attempts have been sporadic and unsatisfactory, it is admitted.

Another phase of unnecessary expense often deplored is in the inability to shift pupils from overcrowded schools to schools that are not crowded. It is a peculiar situation that in a city a child cannot be transferred from one school to another without charging tuition. That situation will change for the worse rather than the better as time goes on, it is said.

FOUR SUPERINTENDENTS

Still another phase of cost is seen in the expense of administration. Principals must be engaged for each district. As the schools are now organized, these principals are in fact superintendents of their districts. As such, capable men are engaged and substantial salaries are paid, and yet, it is held, anyone of these principals could supervise many more teachers and pupils than they now supervise in their respective districts.

Cities of several hundred thousands engage one assistant superintendent or grade school supervisor to direct the work which is now directed by the four district principals. This is an expense that is not considered wise. When the junior high schools open next fall, there will be further additional expense of administration if the present method is to continue. It is pointed out that unless the district system is abolished several more high salaried men will have to be employed to direct the junior high schools. With the union system in effect, the district principals could be shifted to other responsible positions, leaving women teachers in charge at each school.

Another consideration is the direction of the grade schools after next September. The junior high schools now under construction will be begun operation at that time and take over the freshman class of the high school and the seventh and eighth grades of all the district schools. This will leave but six grades in each of the elementary schools. If the union system is not adopted, the danger that threatens the six-grade elementary schools is that they will be robbed of their present skillful direction. The principals who are now in effect district superintendents may not wish to continue, it is pointed out. Under the union system all these elementary schools would be under the direct supervision of an assistant superintendent.

The form of administration as foreseen by the board of education under the union system is a superintendent of schools to direct the senior and junior high schools, an assistant to supervise all the elementary schools, a clerk of the board of education, principals of the high school and junior high schools and principals of each of elementary schools of six grades each. Not one additional man would

William Rickman has purchased the Prolwitz home on Main-st. and will take possession at once. Mr. Prolwitz and family are moving to Wausau.

REAL THANKSGIVING FOR RESIDENTS AT CITY HOME

Inmates at the city home for the poor will be made just as comfortable as possible on Thanksgiving day. The Thanksgiving dinner will mean as much for them as for other people in the city. They will not enjoy the luxury of a turkey, it is true, but they will have roast chicken for the Thanksgiving fowl, and will be served with cranberry sauce, stuffing, pumpkin pie and all the rest of the Thanksgiving dinner "trimmings." The family of inmates to enjoy the dinner will be the largest the home has had in many years. There are ten persons, and all of them advanced in years.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

BURGLARS TAKE $11 FROM SCHOOL

Special to Post-Crescent

Little Chute — Burglars entered Little Chute high school and took $11 which had been left in a desk by one of the teachers. Entrance was made by the fire escape. No clue had been found after a several days' investigation.

Mrs. John Van Den Berg entertained a group of friends at her home Wednesday evening for Miss Grace Croell who was married Tuesday. Cards and dancing furnished amusement. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Van Den Heuvel, Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Heerman, Mr. and Mrs. John Ver Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ver Beton, Josephine, Harriet and Agnes Van Den Berg, Mary Ver Hagen, Marie Weyenberg, Hattie and Josephine Van Den Heuvel, Louis and Edward Van Den Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Van Den Berg, Joseph Laeygrae, John Weyenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gloudemans, all of this village; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Deering, Kaukauna; Mrs. Jacob Jansen, Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. Matt Schaefer, Edward Wolls, Appleton; Albert Sanderfoot, Freedom; Rosamond Van Den Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Van Den Berg, Kimberly.

Mrs. Josephine De Bruux of De Pere visited for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur De Bruux.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wydeven of Kimberly were guests of relatives here Thursday, Nov. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. John Joosten have returned to their home in Rudolph after a few weeks' visit with relatives here.

Miss May Van Gompel entertained a group of friends at her home Sunday, Nov. 18. The occasion was her birthday anniversary. Games and dancing provided amusement. Those present were: Misses Helen Van Den Heuvel, Martha Joosten, Mable Bergman, Rose Van Domelen, Mary Watry, Margaret Watry, Marjorie Schumacher, Rosella Joosten and Christine Van Eperon and Henry Schumacher, Edward Van Den Heuvel.

HORTONVILLE HOLDING THANKSGIVING WORSHIP

Special to Post-Crescent

Hortonville—Special Thanksgiving services will be held at the Lutheran church Thursday. English services will be held at 9 o'clock and German services at 10:30.

Thanksgiving services at the Baptist church will be held at 10:30 on Thursday. There will be special music by the choir.

TRAVELER SPEAKS AT SALVATION ARMY MEETING

Envoy E. Pauline Swartz will speak at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in Salvation Army hall, 897 College-ave, on her experiences while making a tour of the world studying the Salvation Army. She visited Palestine, China.

Miss Eleanor Lucassen was pleasantly surprised at her home on Grand-avenue Thursday evening, Nov. 20, by a group of friends. Games and music furnished entertainment. Those present were: Misses Emma Van Den Berg, Margaret Gerrits, Olive Van Susteren, Hazel Bohm, Everdine Lucassen, Irene Gloudemans, Agnes Boureass, Arline Brainard, Cell Driesen, Henrietta Brya, Verona Lang-Syke, Ludmilla Van Able, Clotilda Hammen and Marie Sanders and Robert Verslagen, Ernest Miron, Harold Verslagen, Cyril Peeters, Sylvester Jansen, Joseph De Groot, Nicholas Langedyke, Clarence Driesen and Peter Van Stiphout.

It Happens Every Day

THOUGHTS OF A FORD ROADSTER—

"I sure am glad my owner has bought that new car—after all he's been talking about it for the last year. Believe me, it seems good now to be running around all day, for a change.

"I was getting pretty tired of the way he talked about me, too. Used to call me 'Lizzie' and 'Henry' and laugh about me to all his friends. You might have thought I was some sort of a joke.

"But I've often heard him say to his wife, when nobody was around, that I could go anywhere a big car could and that I was a wonder for standing up under all sorts of use. He was an awful hypocrite, all right.

"Here he comes now, with some other men. He'll start in making some funny remarks about me—see if he doesn't? Say—this IS peculiar! He's telling these men what a wonderful car I am. Can you imagine that?

"Oh—that's different. One of these men says he'll buy me! Say—do you know what's happened—I was advertised for sale in today's Post-Crescent.

"I auto known that!"

RADIO NEWS

GOOD BATTERY IS NEEDED IN RADIO

Willard Co. Recognizes Essentials in Developing Battery for Sets

"Why must I have a special radio battery for my set when I have an automobile battery that ought to work just as good?" is a question that many a battery and radio expert heard when this radio first became the rage. Today, however, they do not hear that question so often, because the set owner with the impression that any old battery will do, is rapidly disappearing.

"Some radio owners have been using automobile batteries in a service, many of them rebuilt, although the requirements which an automobile battery is designed to meet are entirely different from those for radio battery work. In radio a battery must be of constant voltage, otherwise frequent re-tuning is required because of the sensitive character of the apparatus.

"In automobile service, on the other hand, ordinary fluctuations in voltage are not perceptible in results. In automobile starting and lighting batteries there is need for a comparatively high rate of discharge. In radio a service the rate of discharge is comparatively low. This means that it is possible to use thicker, heavier plates in a radio A battery and so greatly increase battery life.

ANTENNAE PLAY BIG ROLE IN RADIO SET

Your antennae is a very important factor in successful operation of your radio. A large sum may be spent in an elaborate radio without obtaining the desired results if the antennae is not carefully constructed. There are many types of antennae, inverted L, T type and umbrella. The first one mentioned is used in most installations and has proven to be the best when consists of but one strand of wire. The use of the inside antennae called the "loop" is not successful unless used with at least a five tube set. The outside antennae will in any instance give greater volume than the door loop. Your antennae should be well insulated at all supporting points. Insulators made of composition are usually very poor because the dielectric strength is low and the mechanical strength is also poor. The best insulators are the glazed porcelain or pyrex glass. The use of rubber porcelain knobs is not advised. Every antennae must be equipped with a lightning arrester to protect your home. The length of antennae varies with the type of radio used but most radio sets operate best from an antennae of a total length of 150 feet from the lightning arrester to the far end of the antennae. The Appleton Radio Shop is equipped to put up the most satisfactory antennae for your radio. Should desire any information concerning any part of your radio I will personally answer you question either by mail or at our service shop, 745 College Avenue. Phone 8512.

ECHOPHONE "V-3" IN REACH OF ALL

The Echophone "V-3"—the one popular priced 3 tube receiver on the market is within the reach of practically every one contemplating the purchase of a radio set.

Through friends and consistent advertising people have learned about many superior features of the Echophone "V-3"—its loud speaker reception of stations 1,500 and 2,000 miles distant, its clear undistorted reproduction of high and low tones, bringing in only the desired station, its economical dry cell operation, and finally its easy to use Radio. The set contained cabinet is finished in handsome Adam Brown Mahogany.

Supplementing this moderately priced receiver is the Echophone "V-5"—3 tube combined radio and audio frequency set which sells at $110.00. Operates from loop, indoor or outdoor aerial and with dry cell batteries.

A new model Echophone has just been unpacked by the Radio Service Co. The set is now on display.

MAGNAVOX RADIO SET NOW ON SALE

Another product of a well known radio manufacturer has been on sale and display by the Appleton Radio Shop. This is the Magnavox Radio set. The name Magnavox goes hand in hand with the highest manufacturing standards, initiative, research, and policies insuring unequalled volume to the purchaser of any Magnavox instrument. The new Magnavox Radio Receiver is the long awaited receiver combining supreme efficiency and beauty. The Radio Shop also sells exclusively the Kennedy Line of receivers. No local owner of a Kennedy set has ever bought any other type of receiver since owning a Kennedy although many have traded in their old set for the new Model N.V. This set is the most powerful and efficient five tube receiver ever built. If this is granted.

NEW FRESHMEN SET REDUCES LOSSES TO THEIR MINIMUM

Only Apparatus Visible in Open Cabinet Are Tubes, Frequency Units, Grid Leak

Neutralizing by means of compensating coils, which is a very simple process, is being used with much satisfaction, but now comes a receiver known as the Freshman Masterpiece developed by A. W. Brinklin, Chief Engineer of the Charles Freshman Company, New York City, employing two stages of tuned radio frequency detector and two stages of audio frequency amplification without any compensating condenser or coils. This receiver utilizes specially designed coupling coils, wound in such a manner so as to reduce capacities and losses to a minimum, and the close coupling which exists between the primary and secondary windings prevents or reduces oscillations to a minimum, whereas previous forms of tuned radio frequency receivers had a tendency to make the set oscillate, due to the use of comparatively loose coupling.

The only apparatus visible in this receiver when the cabinet is open are the five tubes, the three tuned radio frequency units and the variable grid leak, all the other parts, such as wiring, transformers and rheostats, being mounted below the hard rubber panel which also serves as the base of the five sockets and the three tuned radio frequency units, thus hiding them entirely from view. This keeps the resistance down to the lowest possible limit, which increases the efficiency and permits the use of short straight-line connection between the different points. All sockets of this receiver are riveted and crimped to the panel.

In building up the tuned radio frequency coils the important point to remember in winding the coils is to have the primary of the radio frequency wound in reverse direction to that of the secondaries, this reverse winding prevents the set from oscillating. The circuit, when using the tuned radio frequency units, is self-balancing and therefore does not require any stabilizer, such as potentiometer or neutralizing condensers.

Last question, beyond question, was a neutrodyne question, and considering the fact that in many cases the sets were operated while improperly neutralized, they performed very well.

What will be the favorite circuit this coming season? Some say the super-hetrodyne, others the multi-tube reflex circuits because of their economy which everyone seeks, and still others claim that some form of tuned radio frequency receiver on the order of the neutrodyne, but without its bad features.

The Freshman Masterpiece set is highly recommended by Mr. Blake, of the Appleton Electric Co. Sets are now on display. Come in to look them over or hear a concert.

QUALITY OF TONE IMPORTANT FACTOR

All that has been lacking in Radio Speakers is tone quality. Many kinds of horns are on the market, but very few come up to the standard requirements.

Any Radio Set, whether it be expensive or cheap, is judged by the tone quality of its loud speaker. After careful investigation and research, we find the Sonora Radio Speaker the finest on the market.

The Sonora Radio Speaker is the same pattern all used here, used in the Sonora Phonograph, with a Sonora tone arm and radio reproducer, connected in a typical Sonora cabinet. This is the tone passage which enabled Sonora to win highest award for tone quality at the Panama-Pacific Exposition and to be recognized as the sweetest toned phonograph. Embodying its easy to use Radio. The set contains cabinet is finished in handsome Adam Brown Mahogany.

The Sonora Radio Speaker is the creation of experts in tone production—their contribution to the advancement of radio science, adding tone quality to radio reception.

To get the most and the best from your radio receiving set, no matter how good you must use a Sonora Radio speaker.

A demonstration at the Meyer Seeger Music Co. may be made on request.

WHY E-BOATS FAILED

German E-boats failed to locate American ships because of their untidiness, according to Commander D. C. Dineham, assistant director of the Department of Commerce. Talking to one another by radio, the E-boats disclosed their positions by means of direction finders controlled by the allies. So the troops were routed around the submarines.

TURKEY BEHIND

Turkey has not yet started popular radio, although a German firm has applied for a concession to establish a low-power broadcasting station at Constantinople. Sale of the new Turkish radio is expected to begin in the near future.

NEUTRODYNE KIT IS EASY TO BUILD

Five-tube Outfit Contains Every Part From Drilled Panel to Baseboard

Scores of people are building the Hazeltine Neutrodyne circuit containing five tubes being offered by M. J. V. Foss, and in an interview with the owner of one of these home assembled sets the writer asked if he had any difficulty in constructing the set. His reply was:

"It is one of the easiest circuits in the world to build with the help of that picture blue print and I encountered little or no difficulty in its construction and had my set working in five hours time and the first station I heard on it was Ottawa, Ontario. That drilled panel makes it a pleasure to construct because it's all drilled to fit the parts and gives one the exact degree to set the condensers and neutroformers to their work at set efficiency. Your free offer of neutroizing the set is a great help to the novice and this circuit at $50 is about the 'best buy' on the market today in radio."

When the writer asked the man if he had any difficulty in tuning the set he replied: "I just set the dials after I have a station logged and I always find them there if they are broadcasting and I picked up 53 stations the first two nights I had the set operating."

"What about the volume?" he was then asked. "The volume is excellent and I can hear the broadcasting all over the house including the basement and its clarity is almost as perfect as any of the best sets I have ever heard. It was really a pleasure to know 'I made it myself' and it works to perfection. One good thing about this is that if anything goes wrong all I have to do is to check up, refer to my picture blueprint and if it's in the receiver I can find it myself without the services of a competent repair man."

Before assembling this complete Neutrodyne kit, Mr. Foss experimented with different apparatus and selected only those parts for the "kit" which would give the most efficient quality of tone and volume as low loss condensers, Genuine Licensed Neutroformers and neutroforms, Bakelite sockets, two nickel plated shielded transformers, filament control sockets to save current, large speedster four inch dials, special rheostats and

PHILCO REPLACES CLUMSY BATTERIES

No more need of big, cumbersome batteries in the cellar, for satisfactory long distance radio reception.

The New Philco Rechargeable Radio Batteries—Assembled in small, attractive, acid-tight pressed glass cases—are absolutely safe for use anywhere in your home.

No more need of guesswork charging or using a sloppy, old-fashioned hydrometer. The exclusive built-in Philco Charge Indicator on the Philcap Charge Tester tells you all conditions of charge and discharge.

The new DX, rechargeable "B" Battery delivers strong, uniform, non-rippling current, without hum, roar or buzz—that contains all the advantages of the famous class-case "A" batteries.

It has tremendous capacity, which is double that of the ordinary "B" battery—it needs recharging only once every two or three months—refilling with water only once or twice a season.

They are easily recharged with the new Philco Noiseless Charger—it requires just a throw of a switch—a plug in a socket. No noise—impossible to overcharge and it costs them only $5 to 10 cents.

Come in to Jimmie Burke's Service Station and look over these batteries, just like you would tubes, Victrola records or any other attractive merchandise. They will harmonize with your set; it will improve your reception.

MAGNIFICENT HOME OF APPLETON MASONS WILL BE DEDICATED WITH ELABORATE CEREMONIES

Masonic Orders Of City Invite Public To Visit New Temple

Two great days of festivities a public inspection on Friday and dedication on Saturday, will mark the formal opening and occupation this week of Appleton's splendid new Masonic temple at College ave. and Drew st. Hundreds of visiting Masons and their wives and members of the Eastern Star and escorts from cities all over Wisconsin are expected here.

Open house for the people of the city of Appleton will take place Friday afternoon and evening. The festivities on Saturday will be for Masons and their families and those of affiliated orders only. Everybody in Appleton is invited to the temple on Friday by Watervliet lodge so they may see its interior. People who have watched it grow have entertained curiosity as to how it would look inside. The Masons therefore decided to open its doors for one day to all who would like to pay a visit there. Special invitations have been sent all fraternal organizations in the city. Members of Watervliet lodge will be on hand to receive the visitors and escort them through the building explaining the various rooms. This may be done from 2 to 8:30 Friday afternoon or from 7 to 10 p.m. on the evening only as Saturday's festivities are private.

DEDICATE SATURDAY
Saturday's program will include formal dedication, a woman's program, a banquet and ball.

Dedication exercises start at 3 o'clock at which time the main lodge room will be used for the first time. This ceremony will be for master Masons only and will be in charge of officers of the grand lodge of Wisconsin headed by Frank Johnson of Black River Falls, grand master. The program will open with the dedicatory ritual. A violin solo then will be given by Percy Fullinwider. Addresses will be made by G. E. Buchanan, president of Masonic Temple association and worshipful master of Watervliet lodge, Lee C. Blood of Roosevelt lodge No. 822 Green Bay and William F. Weiler of Chippewa Falls, past state grand master. Music by a quartet will follow and Dr. William T. Derwald then will give his famous address. The Master Key Ceremonies will be closed by the grand lodge.

Simultaneous with his service will be a program for ladies in the social hall especially for members of the Eastern Star and White Shrine.

Serving of the banquet will begin at 5 o'clock and as it is expected six or seven hundred will be present there will be two sessions in the dining rooms in the basement of the temple. The second will be at 6:30. The 10-11 will be served by Appleton Woman's club with Mrs. S. C. Shannon in charge. The menu will be: trout cocktail, salted hump, beef tenderloin with mushroom sauce, scalloped potatoes, lettuce with thousand island dressing, peas in cases, rolls, coffee, cranberry jelly, ice cream and cookies.

DISHES WERE GIFT
Decorations will be arranged in the diningroom and throughout the temple by the artists who installed the furnishings. Fishes used at the banquet will be those which were a gift to the temple from the Order of the Eastern Star, consisting of Chinaware imprinted with the name and emblem of Watervliet lodge. Music will be furnished by an orchestra during the serving.

The dinner will be open to master Masons and adult members of their families and members of the Eastern Star, DeMolay, White Shrine and their husbands or escorts.

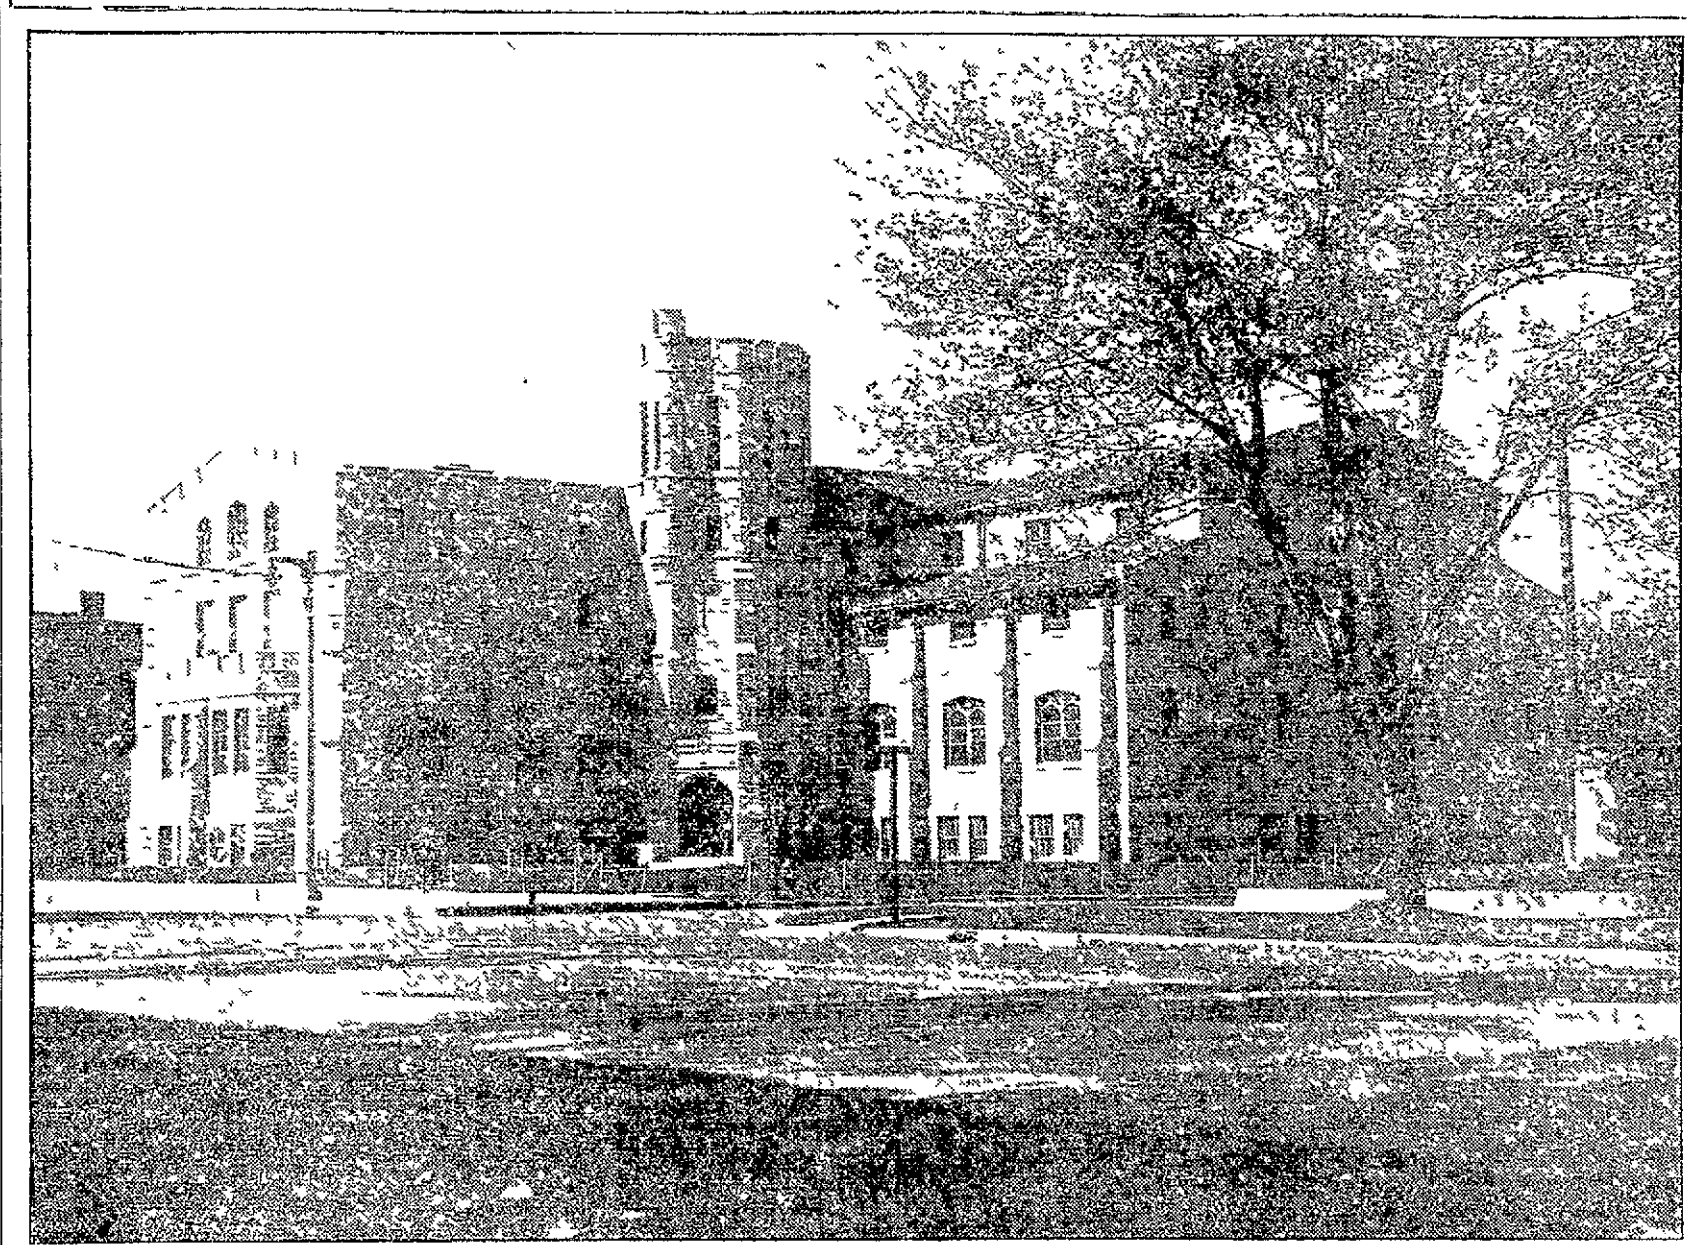

The ball which concludes the festivities likewise will be open to this group. Music will be furnished by Behnken orchestra of eight pieces. The program includes quadrilles, waltzes, two steps and some of the older dances as well as the one step and never ones so as to provide amusement for the old as well as the young.

Members of the organization which has charge of the festivities are:
General committee—G. H. Packard, chairman; A. C. Remley and J. H. Melhinch.

Music committee—W. H. Kraus, chairman; Robert F. Hackworthy, Percy Fullinwider.

Dance—G. R. Wetzel, chairman; H. W. Tuttle, C. D. Thompson.

Beauty Is Keynote Of Furnishings Of New Masonic Temple

Dedication of the new Masonic temple at College ave. and Drew st. Saturday afternoon converts to permanent use of Watervliet lodge and affiliated Masonic orders one of the finest internal buildings in this section of the country.

Designed and built according to the architecture of the Norman Tudor era, the building is most imposing in appearance and its interior, since the installation of the fixtures and furnishings is none the less excellent. It is built of stone in T shape with a tower resembling that of the old French castles.

Arrangement of the interior of the temple is such that the three floors of the east wing are devoted principally to the places of meeting and the south wing mostly for social and lounging purposes.

LODGEROOM IS BEAUTIFUL

Designers and decorators exerted their best efforts on the main lodge room occupying the upper floor of the entire east wing. This room is really a story and a half in height giving opportunity for beautiful cornice work and ornamental arches on the ceiling. The officers' alcove at the front is bordered by a frieze at the center of which is a carved Masonic emblem. One upper corner contains an inset emblem of the chapter and the other the star of the Eastern Star lodge. A painting across the front overhead depicts a caravan on the desert. The walls are finished in light tones of brown and the entire room is carpeted in brown to conform to the color scheme. Stationary seats line each side of the room. An organ loft has been placed overhead in the rear. The main organ which will be part of the equipment has not been installed however.

Below this main lodgeroom and on the main floor of the temple is the social hall. It corresponds in size to the meeting quarters. There is a stage at the front either for use of an orchestra or for dramatic purposes. Decorations are in lighter shades than those of the lodgeroom with an ivory shade predominating. A double curvilinear staircase descends from the rear of the hall. It has a landing at the ground level at a carriage entrance on the west side of the building and the stage entrance to the lodgeroom hall in the east wing basement.

HAS LARGE KITCHEN

This room goes the length of the wing with the exception of a strip at the east end where the kitchen is located. Large gas stoves have been installed in the kitchen and warming upboards or huge cups are also here. The kitchen is a fine one of the most modern available. The equipment is in keeping with the ability to serve a large crowd. An auxiliary kitchen adjoins the main lodge hall upstairs and will be used for serving large lunches to small groups.

Lounging rooms and rest quarters are provided on the floor of the temple's south wing. This wing for boys of the DeMolay is provided on the main floor with rest quarters, a large study. A lounge for the general use of the members occupies the south front of this floor. A staircase just back of the corridor leading to the social hall contains a spacious cloakroom arranged so it can become a changing booth when large functions are in progress. A lounge also is provided in the south basement for those who are waiting for a dinner to be served. The corridor is plastered to resemble rough masonry.

There is a spacious set of rooms on the second floor, the unused space between the main lodgeroom on the north and the auxiliary lounge room on the south. This is main for use of members when assembling for meetings. The auxiliary room is one of the most prettily designed parts of the temple. Its walls contain raised designs of the lotus flower tinted in appropriate colors and over the east and west platforms are Egyptian winged disks. The color scheme is in red, blue and green. The altar and pedestals also are in a similar shade of green.

ROOMS FOR GAMES

A corridor surrounding the large lodge room contains olive steel lockers for the uniforms of the Knights Templar. A third floor which is really a mezzanine floor is used as a

A Monument To Masonry-

Any thing—whether a painting or a statue—which strikes the eye as something beautiful is an asset to mankind.

And this new building—beautiful and enduring—is entirely worthy of the name Masonic Temple. Not only should it be a thing of pride to the Masons but it should be a thing of pride to all Appleton.

We are proud of our part played in the construction of this monument to Masonry.

Completion Of Masonic Temple Was Realization Of Long Dream Of Masons

Completion and occupancy of the new Masonic temple which occupies the corner of College-ave and Drew-st means the realization of long ideals of the members of the various Masonic orders, but the building is more than a dream come true.

It may be safe to say that when Waverly lodge was first chartered in Appleton in 1854, five years after the settling of the village no one imagined that it would some day be the possessor of so imposing and stately a structure as is about to be dedicated.

In seventy years of Masonry in Appleton, from the days of its first little meeting hall on College-ave, through the first site of the Crescent-bldg. up to the days of its last meeting place over the old Commercial bank-bldg., now the property of Irving Zuehlke, at College-ave and Onondaga, the order has been without a home of its own.

STARTLING GROWTH

Waverly lodge retained its last quarters for 47 years, since 1881, when the building was erected. The Grand Lodge participated in the cornerstone ceremonies at the time. It probably was fortunate for the order that no temple was erected during the last decade or more, for the lodge has enjoyed so startling a growth that the building would have become too small for its needs ere this.

Appleton Mason have looked forward to building of their own for a good many years, but they set their hopes upon a structure that would be adequate for the use of all Masonic orders, not only as far as it concerned the present needs, but also those of many years to come. They looked forward to a building that would stand as a monument in the city to the history and ideals of Freemasonry.

It was in view of erecting and occupying a structure of its own some day that the Appleton Temple association was organized some years ago. Meanwhile it managed the affairs of its old quarters until its plans were ready.

STARTED IN 1921

The dream of years began to take definite shape at the annual meeting of the Temple association in January, 1921. The trustees of the Blue lodge, the Chapter and Commandery of the Knights Templar were designated as the temple building committee. Representing the Blue lodge were H. W. Tuttle, George H. Buckard and R. A. Bunker; the chapter was represented by O. P. Schaefer, L. J. Marshall and G. E. Buchanan; while Charles W. Stuebel, Charles H. Shelton and J. H. McIninch constituted the board of trustees of the Commandery.

In addition to these members, the Temple association decided to select two more members from each of the Masonic bodies for the building committee, and these were A. H. Wieseberg and A. C. Remley of the Blue lodge, John F. Lippert and H. W. Russell of the Chapter and William Timm and E. H. Brooks of the Commandery.

The committee of 15 was vested with full authority to purchase the site, engage an architect, obtain plans and specifications, for the several contracts and take all other necessary steps incidental to the building and furnishing of the contemplated temple.

TIME WAS RIPE

By January, 1922, sentiment in favor of erecting a temple had increased to such an extent that the committee deemed the time ripe for commencement of operations. In accordance with the policy, the committee on Jan. 21, 1922, purchased the temple site on the northwest corner of College-ave and Drew-st, at a cost of $15,600.

A number of years previous the Masonic orders had acquired the site at the northeast corner of Appleton and Lawrence-sts, but later disposed of it to the Appleton Y. M. C. A.

The new site was that of the corner then owned by the Hermann Motor Car company and the adjacent corner lot. The beautiful setting for the temple is indicated by the Lawrence Campus, the Memorial Presbyterian church and All Saints Episcopal church on the other three corners. The property was bought with money from the treasury and subscriptions from some of the members.

FINANCIAL CANVAS

At the booster banquet in the lodge rooms on June 11, 1922, the committee recommended that a financial canvas be undertaken to obtain subscriptions from members. The suggestion was heartily endorsed and at the same time it was unanimously decided that the temple should be dedicated to lodge purposes only. The canvas was begun at once and continued through the fall and winter of 1922 and 1923. The next financial report at the meeting on Oct. 20, 1922, of the progress of the canvas encouraged the members to look to the corner of the temple with increasing pride.

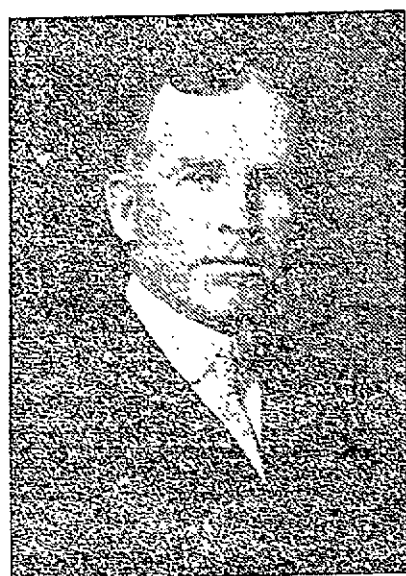

The committee first visited a number of "home" temples to obtain suggestions and plans. Leenhouts & Guthrie, Milwaukee, who have erected 18 Masonic temples, were contacted as architects. After some conference with the architects, the committee asked for estimates on the temple which were received on April 26, 1923. The contract was awarded to G. E. Meyer & Sons, of Chicago, by a vote of 10-2. The old temple was ordered sold and dismantled, and by March the last trace of the old building was gone.

START BUILDING

With the construction ready to be undertaken, the first of series of dedicatory exercises was held. Lodge members gathered at 2 p. m. on the morning of May 25, 1924, to witness the first shovel of dirt for the foundation. About 200 members were present.

Escorted by the Order of DeMolay, the members marched down College-ave to the scene of the ceremonies. George H. Buckard acted as master of ceremonies. Invocation was offered by Dr. J. A. Hobbs, chaplain of Waverly ly lodge. The purpose of the meeting was explained by G. E. Buchanan, chairman of the building committee. An address was delivered by A. C. Remley, worshipful master of Waverly lodge, who proceeded to turn the first shovel of soil. Oscar Johnson, high priest of the chapter, W. B. Basing of the Commandery, Mrs. L. J. Marshall, worthy Matron of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Paul Hackbert, representing the White Shrine, and Richard Nelson, master councillor of DeMolay, each in turn dug a shovel of soil.

A second important ceremony was the laying of the cornerstone of the new building. These exercises took place on Aug. 11, 1923, following a monster parade in which the members of all the associated orders, as well as visiting brethren from other cities, the Grand Lodge officers and the Milwaukee Knights Templar band took part.

The program was carried out principally by the officers of the Grand lodge, but addresses were delivered by Henry W. Tuttle, past master of Waverly lodge, and Adam C. Remley, worshipful master. Invocation and benediction were pronounced by Charles A. Adams, Montello, grand chaplain. The cornerstone was consecrated by Charles F. Lamb, Milwaukee, grand master, who also gave an address. William W. Perry, Milwaukee, grand secretary, read the list of articles to be deposited in the cornerstone, while George D. Wheeler, Eau Claire, grand treasurer, deposited the articles. The working tools were presented by the chief architect, and the setting of the cornerstone was performed by grand lodge officers. The Milwaukee Knights Templar band furnished music for the ceremonies.

Work on the building was pushed rapidly so that the exterior was soon completed. The interior work continued through the winter. The building was first used at the time of the Rotary convention in March, 1924, when the dining room was used to serve visiting Rotarians.

Several weeks later the Masonic lodge held its first informal or informal meeting at the new temple. During the latter part of August, the order left its old quarters and moved to the new building. The lodge room of the new building, however, has never been used and will be thrown open at the final dedication exercises on Nov. 27. The day previous has been set as visiting day when the public will be permitted to inspect the building.

Coming Of Pilgrims Is Told In Sand And Pictures

And the pilgrims celebrated for three days, giving thanks for the great country of America, whose every one had freedom to worship in his own way. "Do you remember shutting your third grade reader with a sigh because you wanted the story of the landing of the Pilgrims to go on and on without end? Third graders of the Fourth district school have discovered a way of making the story stretch out over a period of three interesting weeks. Using the sand table as a workshop, they have built a miniature England, Holland and America with tiny oceans between, upon which they can trace the exodus of the oppressed English, who traveled first to a delightful Holland of dykes, tulips and picturesque people where kindness and toleration made even strangers welcome.

The children told the story in section class period and stressed particularly the king's cruelty to the pilgrims, and the friendliness of the Dutch and of the Indians who peopled America when the wanderers landed here. A dignified, austere white church dominates the scene on the sand that represents English soil, and the soldiers of the king are lined up in martial array to force delinquents into church. The little fragile ship "Speedwell" makes its perilous journey between England and Holland, and a graceful Mayflower completes the voyage to America.

The wigwams of the Indians and loghouses of the whites fill the space in the section called America. Birch-bark canoes are pulled up on the shore, and turkeys, corn, and pumpkins cover the ground. The wigwams are set atop hills, just as they should be, and the colonists' rude shacks fill the valleys. A more complete little picture of the world that was making history in the early seventeenth century would be hard to find.

Miss Dott Smith, teacher of the third grade under whose guidance the work has progressed, appoints committees to manage the various difficult jobs which the project entails. Customs of the Dutch, the pilgrims, Indians and soldiers must be studied and the science of log cabin building must also be considered. The geography and topography of the countries, and also the idiosyncrasies and characteristics of the nations must be brought out.

Working in this committee system, the children develop a sense of responsibility and a pride in individual achievement. No shirking is possible, and consequently a real knowledge of the

NOW IS TIME TO MAIL PARCELS TO EUROPE

The early shopping and early mailing drive conducted jointly by local merchants and the Appleton postoffice has not yet had a noticeable effect except in foreign mail. Appleton residents who have parcels to mail to friends or relatives in foreign countries are heeding the warning that parcels should be mailed now so they may be delivered by Christmas.

Now is the favorable time for mailing Christmas packages to foreign countries, according to Postmaster Zuehlke. The senders can avoid the congestion which is certain to result with the commencement of the domestic mail movement. While first class mail can be delivered more expeditiously, parcel post requires longer time for delivery on account of custom usages.

Last dates for mailing of parcels for pre-Christmas delivery in several foreign countries are as follows: England, Dec. 13; Germany, Dec. 9; Sweden, Dec. 5; France, Dec. 13; Russia, Dec. 2; Austria, Dec. 6; Greece, Dec. 2; Italy, Dec. 6; Japan, Dec. 1; China, a little earlier than Japan, especially if the parcels are destined for the interior.

story, life and historical background of the emancipation of the pilgrims is instilled in every child from this type of project work.

As an example of the many elasticities of a story telling piece of work, the problem of Indian sign language came up for explanation. Miss Smith elaborated on the queer system of picture writing, and the children became so enthusiastic that with a little training, they developed real skill in writing by use of symbols. This is a new angle to an old story, and Miss Smith says that every time a new group of children takes up a problem, something new is evolved, and in the working out of these new individual slants, the greatest good of project work is found.

bedroom and the south frontage will contain billiard tables which are to be installed later.

Floors and stairways except in the bedrooms and the social hall are of terrazzo and rugs cover them in the social rooms. Attractive furniture, part of it in antique design, equips the entire place. There are overstuffed chairs and daybeds in red and flowered tapestry in the various resting places. Daybeds and tables and reading lamps also are numerous.

Drapes designed to harmonize with the color schemes and surroundings are hung at the windows. Everything smacks of coziness and a homelike atmosphere. Fireplaces of odd design on each floor and a grandfather chime clock on the first landing of the stairway help to create this effect.

The building is equipped also with lavatories on each floor and with preparation rooms for the meetings, storage facilities and other conveniences. The boiler room occupies the northwest corner of the basement.

Masonic Allegory Woven Into Stones Of Splendid Temple Dedicated This Week

BY A. H. WICKELBERG

While for modern club features which have been incorporated into Masonic buildings the original form has been lost, it remains true that it is taught that the temple and the lodgeroom themselves are symbol—a representation of the universe which is a manifestation of the Most High. The symbolism is quite involved and would require a lengthy discourse.

One of the symbols seen from the outside is a large cross worked into the masonry on the east side of the building. This symbol is first of all an accidental one. The building is of Norman Tudor type; in other words, a medieval adaptation. These castles were the forts and asylums of the knights of old and their retainers. A part of the defense consisted in well drilled bowmen.

ACCIDENTAL CROSS
For their better protection these archers were placed behind the battlements and within the walls of the buildings themselves. To facilitate the defense, horizontal slits were made in the walls so that bowmen might shoot better, and longer vertical slits were added for the use of the bow. Thus was accidentally formed the cross, which later became quite the proper emblem for the crusaders and Knights Templar.

The Masonic symbolism of the cross is at least twofold. In all the old mysteries an ancient religion, the cube is considered the symbol of perfection. When the six sides of the cube are laid out in one plane they form, roughly, the outline of a human being and also that of a gavel, depending on how the sides are arranged. The gavel is amongst all an emblem of authority, and man himself is an emblem of authority, but more especially the perfection and authority of Deity. In the cross are inseparably linked God and man. To the Knight Templar, Mason and to Christian Masons in general the cross, of course, symbolizes the authority, service, perfection and love of the Savior.

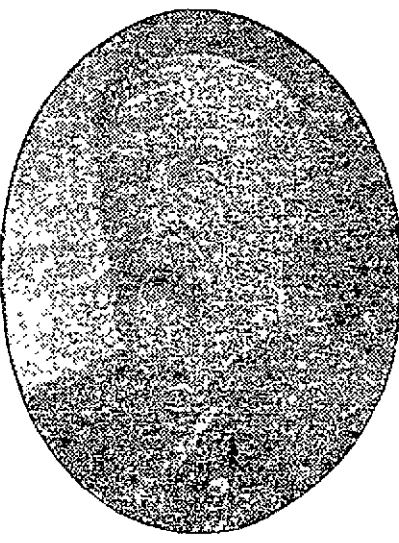

Additional representatives of the cross are within the temple, especially in the social hall where are displayed the shields of the ancient knights, with the cross emblazoned on the piece of armor.

The cube from which the cross is evolved contains mathematically the name by which we know God—Jehovah. Not only that, but it contains within itself the proof that no other word can properly or completely express the name of Deity. Probably because of this characteristic the cube has in ages been deemed the symbol of Deity. Just how this relationship exists is more than can be explained here.

One of the most striking rooms from a decorative point of view is the auxiliary lodge room on the second floor of the new temple, finished in Egyptian style. Archaeologists years ago, when facts were in more fragmentary form, assumed that these ancient people were polytheists, meaning believers in a group of gods. Later it developed that while the common people perhaps were taught this religion and that while in its degeneracy the whole land practiced polytheism, yet at its height the priests and rulers were pure monotheists, believed in a Deity one and inseparable. Egyptologists now hold that what formerly had been thought to be separate gods were in fact but attributes of Deity personified.

It is quite fitting that one of the lodgerooms should depict Egypt, partly because Egypt suggests the antiquity which Masonry itself possesses.

and partly because of the monotheism of Egyptian thought.

The predominant decorative colors in this room are red, blue and green. The red to the Egyptian symbolized man, blue represented his spirit and green in all lands was and is the emblem of immortality. The decorations symbolically teach that the spirit of man is immortal. This thought is emphasized by the lotus flower designs found on the walls of this room.

The lotus flower has in one way or another held a commanding position in the three great philosophic peoples of antiquity. While it perhaps reached its greatest philosophical and artistic development on the banks of the Nile, it was probably not indigenous there, but was introduced from the Orient where it was everywhere consecrated as a sacred symbol. To the Hindu

E. Blaney, producer, Cullen Landis and the staff of mechanics employed on location, that they had planned.

In these sequences Cullen Landis, who has the leading male role, is expected to mount a horse and make a dash for the open country. The scenes were shot at night and high powered lights mounted on motor trucks thrown on location to provide enough light to photograph the action.

The rainstorm was coming with driving force against the players and caused Landis to squint as he mounted and made a dash toward the lighted trucks. He was expected to shoot between the camera and truck, but instead he dashed into the truck and was thrown from the horse where he lay dazed for a minute.

Everyone thought the actor was stunned and perhaps seriously injured; but before anyone could reach him, Landis had sprung to his feet and was ready to shoot the scene over.

Everyone who has ever worked with Landis declares that he is the gamest actor in the business. He lets nothing phase him and shows even more pluck than is expected of melodramatic heroes. It is this characteristic that has been largely responsible for his rapid rise in pictures. Mildred Harris plays opposite Landis in "One Law for the Woman."

poets the lotus was what the rose was to the Persians. Even today the rose speaks its spiritual message in poem and in ritual.

Gloating on the water like a water-lily, the lotus was an emblem of the world. Amongst the Egyptians it was the symbol of Osiris and Isis. In the esoteric religion of Egypt these two Gods were the personification of a great principle of nature, the knowledge of which slumbered during the middle ages, making itself known only in the vision of poets. As science advances this principle is again rapidly coming to the front, taking a commanding position in all research, from the election to man himself.

The lotus flower was much used in the sacred architecture of Egypt, being placed as an entablature upon the columns of their temples. Thence it was introduced by Solomon into Jewish architecture, being found under the name of "lily-work" as a part of the ornaments of the two pillars at the porch of the temple.

Over the doors of the auxiliary lodgeroom are representations of the Egyptian winged disk. Amongst other symbolism contained within this design is the emblem of Deity—the disk, representing the sun.

The sun is the power of our universe. It thus symbolizes the authority of Deity. But further, the life of the earth depends upon the sun. Its light and warmth bring forth life. Its withdrawal brings death. As its light gives up physical means of sight, so the light of Deity gives us spiritual light. As the rays of the sun warm and fructify the earth, so the influence of the Divine Spirit brings forth good fruit in man. Material blessings and rewards are the result of the divine gift. Happiness is a definite and harmonious relationship to God, and not the outgrowth of material conditions or possessions.

The wings of the disk denote that the emblem of the sun is to be interpreted spiritually, not literally. The letter kills, the spirit frees.

Thus runs the symbolism of Masonry. It is a fascinating and ever increasingly instructive work to him who has the key, and to him who in addition is careful and industrious in his meditation.

Oldest Mason Was Initiated By Lodge Half Century Ago

Waverly lodge No. 51 of the Masonic order, with its 400 or more members now meeting in a magnificent stone temple is quite different from the lodge of a handful of Masons gathered twice a month in quarters in a wooden building at College-ave and Oneida-st. in 1873.

So thinks one of the veteran Masons of Appleton, R. A. Hatch, 708 Second-ave, who has been a member of Waverly lodge for more than 50 years. He has seen the organization grow from a struggling fraternal order to a large one with a temple finer than any he has seen in his travels in cities this size.

Honoring his membership for 50 years, Waverly lodge held a celebration on Dec. 18, 1923 at which he was presented with a silver trowel on which his name and that of the lodge were engraved. He is one of four men living in Appleton who have a record of membership for that length of time.

JOINED IN 1873
Mr. Hatch joined April 29, 1873 when he was 30 years old. Meetings were held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month just as they are now. The lodge hall was in a wooden building at the southwest corner of College-ave and Oneida-st. the same location as the quarters which the order vacated when it moved to the new temple. The wooden structure was torn down later and the 3-story brick building erected that now stands at that site. Lodgerooms were established in the new place using most of the third floor.

Capt. Henry Turner was worshipful master of Waverly lodge when Mr. Hatch was initiated. He is unable to recall who the other officers were except that the senior deacon was Allen W. Ball. Later Mr. Hatch held that office for two years. He believes there are only two or three of the present members who sat in the old lodgeroom.

"When we moved from the old hall into the new years ago, the brethren thought they were getting into a very fine hall, as it was new and very nicely decorated," said Mr. Hatch. "We were very glad to invite inspection from other lodges. I have visited many lodges of late years but of those I have come in contact with none would compare at all with our most beautiful temple."

TWENTY MEMBERS THEN
There were 20 members in the early lodge days, most of them middle-aged or elderly men, according to the recollections of the veteran Mason. The attendance was good and there were many interesting meetings. The growth of the lodge was slow and it was difficult to keep it well financed, with so few members. There were none of the affiliated orders existing now the Chapter, Commandery, Order of the Eastern Star, White Shrine and DeMolay. These came a few years later.

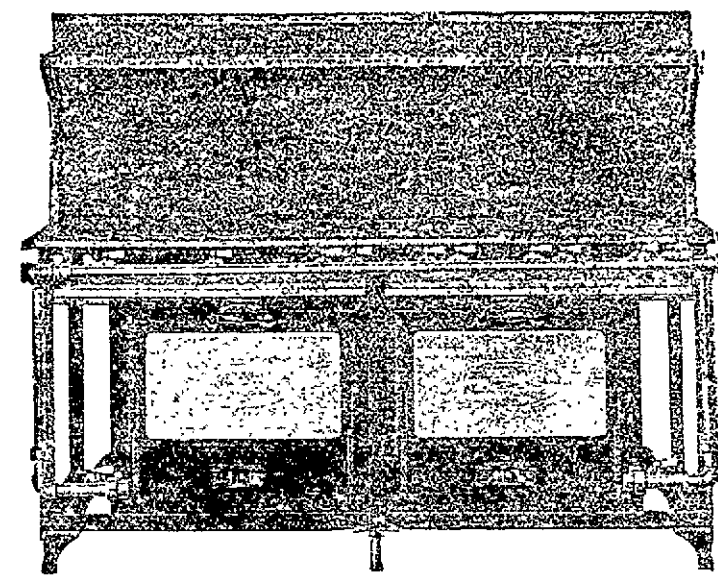

Initiation into the Masonic order was not the first fraternal venture for Mr. Hatch. There were only three such organizations in Appleton Temples. He had joined the other two before he became a Mason. This situation is quite different from the present, he says, when there are 20 or 30 lodges in existence here.

Mr. Hatch's long record of Masonry is almost equaled by his term of service as a traveling salesman, as he has followed that pursuit for 45 years. He started this work in 1879 and at that time covered Wisconsin, northern Michigan, Minnesota and North and South Dakota. For the last 21 years he has traveled through Wisconsin and northern Michigan representing Crocker Chair Co., Sheboygan. Although past 80 years of age he still travels 15,000 miles every year for his company. He is a native of Vermont and came to Appleton in May, 1865.

No matter if you have had piles for years Pyramid Pile Suppositories give you the relief you want from the pain, itch, strain, bleeding and soreness of protruding piles. Get a 60-cent box today at any drug store. You will then know why Pyramid is the national coast-to-coast reliance.

The Biggest Little Detail-

The Masons are to be congratulated on having built such a beautiful building. The Masonic Temple is truly a temple in which beauty and durability have been combined both in the exterior and in the interior. The outside is no better than the inside. No detail was omitted in this attempt to attain perfection. And in paying attention to each minute detail only the best has resulted.

Finding the most suitable range for a kitchen is the biggest little detail to be considered when you are building, whether it is a Masonic Temple or a home that is being built.

We are glad the Masons chose a Stewart Range in order to make their kitchen as fine and as perfect as the rest of the building. A good gas range is the most important part of a kitchen's equipment. If the range works well, then a great deal has been said in favor of the kitchen, but no matter how perfect the rest of the equipment, if the gas range is not the best, the kitchen cannot be the best. The Stewart Range, designed to give the best service is the most economical way, will fit in easily with every other part of the Masonic kitchen.

Reminiscent of two other impressive Universal features, "The Storm," and "The Signal Tower," the graphic display of tense, melodramatic action—and the manner in which the simple plot is unfolded with no deviations from its straight and compact line of development, "The Tornado," seems destined to make box-office history for its sponsors as a genuine cyclonic hit. It's a vigorous story of the lumber regions—of strong and weak men—of their conflicts with each other and with the elements of Nature with which their actions are blended perfectly.

Reduced to its plot skeleton it features a strong silent man who, as portrayed by House Peters, stands forth compellingly and colorfully. He is known as the "Tornado" because of his vicious personality and the fact that he is a stern taskmaster in his job of boss foreman of the lumber camp. There is a suggestion of a man who has suffered and who finds an outlet for his smoldering fires of passion in the ceaseless energy of his work. And so he becomes the other man in a triangle—the woman having been beguiled into marrying a man who had proved false as a friend.

While the climax is anticipated in the title, so tense is the development that suspense is constantly being released. Peters does not make his characterization one of screaming heroics. Indeed, he humanizes the role. He punishes a group of labor agitators and goes about the difficult job of sustaining the interest in the tornado scene with a sure grasp upon the dramatic sweep.

APPLETON HAS HAD MASONIC LODGE FOR 70 YEARS

Waverly Masonic Lodge Was Organized Here Just 70 Years Ago This Spring

The early history of Free Masonry in Appleton is the story of a series of almost forgotten fraternal and benevolent endeavors of men whose names also are hardly more than a memory for that history covers a period of more than 70 years. The first lodges of the order consist of the names of men who played a prominent part in shaping the destiny of this city.

When Appleton was in its infancy plans for the organization of a Masonic lodge here began to crystallize. Seven men banded themselves together and laid the foundation of Waverly Lodge No. 51, Free and Accepted Masons, whose membership now numbers hundreds. That was in the early part of 1854 when Appleton was five years young and was only a small village.

Mayor Congratulates Masons

BY JOHN GOODLAND, JR.
Mayor of Appleton

I am glad of the opportunity to extend to the Masonic Lodge of this city congratulations on the completion of their fine new home. The structure is a splendid addition to our public buildings and adds to the beauty of Appleton of which we are so justly proud. It will stand as a monument to the efforts of those who assisted in the work that has been so well accomplished. The building typifies the sturdiness of the order which has stood the test of so many centuries, and goes back to the beginning of history.

As Mayor of the City and on behalf of its citizens I want to congratulate those who have labored so faithfully in the conception and completion of the beautiful temple.

BRITISH MONARCH ENJOYS QUIET ON SCOTCH ESTATES

Police Guard King George on Annual Visit to Balmoral in Highlands

By Associated Press
Aberdeen—Looking after the well fare of the British monarch when he makes his annual visit to Balmoral in the Scottish highland seat is the annual efficiency test of the constabulary of the country. The officers are proud of a record which shows that not once during the present reign has the king been annoyed in the royal grounds.

The constabulary are preparing for the visit of the king at the end of the month. A large force is being kept on the alert and are kept on their toes for any signs of commotion or disturbance or demonstrations which might interfere with the visit of the royal family who themselves are at Balmoral during the reigns of Victoria and Edward VII a few disturbances were created on the castle grounds by cranks, but since then the constabulary have had the upper hand.

American visitors are also a source of annoyance to the guard about the castle and it requires much diligence to keep these unwelcome guests from intruding on the grounds in hopes of getting a peep at the king and queen in their Highland retreat.

The country police check the identity of every stranger in Braemar, Ballater, and Aboyne, the nearest places to Balmoral where visitors are most likely to find accommodation, and if any undesirable have got through the net they are readily caught and politely asked to return the way they came. Generally an officer sees that they do so.

It was an easy matter to guard Queen Victoria. She was much more inclined to keep herself to the vicinity of the castle with an occasional drive to Braemar with her faithful servant, John Brown. But the present king and queen like to move about among their subjects, and the police have to ensure that they are not molested in any way.

HANDLE HUGE NEW PLANE WITH EASE ON FIRST FLIGHT

Monster Machine Said to Be Most Powerful Single Engine Airplane

By Associated Press
Brough, England.—Great Britain's arrangement of the air made its first flight recently from the Brough airfield, which was the hopping off field of the American world flyers when they left England for America by way of Iceland and Greenland.

The monster machine is said to be the most powerful single engine airplane in the world. From wing tip to wing tip it measures 88 feet, stands 19 feet from the ground and from nose to tail is 54 feet. The plane was built to take the new 1,000 horsepower Napier Cub engine, claimed to be the most powerful air motor in existence. It has 16 cylinders, yet weighs only 2,200 pounds. A railway locomotive, developing the same power, weighs over 147,000 pounds.

Foreign air attacks came to Brough to see the trial flight of the "Cubaroo," as the plane is called. For a brief space the engine was run, and then with a great roar the plane was taken across the air with Flight Lieutenant Paul Bulman, one of the most daring pilots of the Royal Air Force in command. When the flight was ended Lieutenant Bulman said the air leviathan had handled as easily as a small plane. The response to the control was wonderful, and on landing there was no suggestion of the enormous size of the machine.

Some idea of the proportions of the plane is indicated by the fact that the single propeller is more than one and one-half times the size of a full-sized English biplane. The tail alone is as large as an ordinary scouting plane. Two staircases from the central cabin lead to separate parts of the machine. One goes to the pilot's cockpit, which has accommodations for two, and the other gives access to a compartment behind the wings which may be used as a machine gun tower.

The plane is without armament of any kind, but when being used for military purposes it will carry about three tons of bombs or torpedoes. The machine is ostensibly a three-seater, but there is accommodation in the cabin for a large crew, and the stairways make it possible for pilots and gunners alike to be relieved when the machine is in flight or even in action.

When produced in quantities the "Cubaroo" will be used to equip some of the units which are to form part of Great Britain's big home defense scheme to become operative next year.

OUTSIDERS BARRED FROM NAVY'S YARDS

By Associated Press
Washington.—The United States navy has at last come around to the policy generally observed by European nations of strict secrecy concerning implements of national defense. The custom of a hundred years is being set aside in the case of the new mine laying submarine for which $6,150,000 has been appropriated. Beyond the fact that her plans call for width of beam, speed and cruising radius beyond anything known in that type, details of the new submersible are jealously guarded.

No nation among the signatories to the Washington arms convention permits inspection of its navy yards in which construction is in progress of vessels not covered by that agreement. Heretofore but slight restraint has been imposed by the United States.

Both England and Japan are known to have made great strides in their newest auxiliaries, the British submarine SXX-1 having aroused especial comment, although not the slightest detail is known generally of her capabilities. In the case of Japan, it has been said officially that the United States government is ignorant of the potentialities comprised in her newest cruisers and destroyer leaders.

PARSONS MUST ACQUIRE BETTER PULPIT VOICES

By Associated Press
London.—The comedy parson, one of the standing jokes on the English variety stage, is threatened with extinction. With the enthusiastic support of the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, a scheme is to be launched in October whereby all the theological students preparing for Holy Orders in the Church of England will be trained in the right production and management of voice.

Already the sum of $10,000 has been secured to meet the expense of instruction. Teachers will be assigned to train in voice production and elocution to the end that all clergymen be taught to read and preach with "clearness, sympathy and reverence."

CHINESE GIRLS GET CHANCE IN SCHOOL

By Associated Press
Tschow, Shantung.—An unprecedented desire for education for girls is being shown throughout the western districts of Shantung. For perhaps the last ten years there have been government girls' schools in a few of the cities of this region, but they have not been popular and the enrollments have not been large.

Of late a distinct change has taken place. The villagers are clamoring for schools, and particularly for schools to impart western learning—geography, arithmetic, drawing, athletics and other branches hitherto not considered desirable for Chinese pupils and especially for girls.

A feature of the movement is a certain social service phase which has been assumed. Many girls who have been in school during the winter go to their homes for the summer and open schools for less fortunate girls.

TRIFID IN 1851

But even three years before that date an attempt to establish an order here was made. A lodge was organized and chartered "Grand Chute" lodge after the settlement in the western part of this community and the rapids of the Fox river. The lodge came into being under a dispensation issued March 15, 1851 or two years before Appleton was incorporated as a village. J. K. Anderson was the principal master of the original lodge. The endeavor was not long lived, however, for most of the officers were removed from the locality leaving the remaining members unable to keep up the organization. The charter later was revoked.

Masonry survived the collapse of the first lodge by the organization of Waverly Lodge No. 51 of Appleton. Just three years later and when the first degree work was undertaken, J. K. Anderson, Appleton's first Masonic chief came from Green Bay with the Green Bay lodge to assist in the ceremonies.

Under a dispensation granted by Grand Master Henry L. Palmer of Milwaukee following seven men met on April 25, 1854 to organize Waverly lodge. James W. Murray, P. H. Smith, M. D. McGrath, Amos Storvick, John Kohler, M. Burroughs and E. Smith. Mr. Murray became the first worshipful master, P. H. Smith the senior warden, Mr. McGrath junior warden, E. Smith secretary and M. Storvick treasurer.

CITY OF BALTIMORE SEEKS TO PRESERVE HISTORIC LANDMARK

Citizens Seek to Form Committee for Saving Ancient Shot Tower

By Associated Press
Baltimore.—The Shot Tower, which has stood as a landmark at Fayette and Front Streets in Baltimore for almost 100 years will be purchased by the city of Baltimore and preserved, if efforts of a number of citizens and organizations are successful.

When the owners of the tower announced last June that unless the city took over the structure it would be demolished, Mayor Howard Jackson said that if the public showed genuine interest for preservation of the shaft the city would buy it.

Following the lead of the Daughters of the American Revolution, numerous patriotic and other societies and many individuals appealed for the preservation of the old landmark. Representatives of these societies held a conference with the mayor and it was decided to acquire the tower by public subscription.

Late in August when the owners of the tower and the mayor failed to agree on a purchase price, an ordinance was passed by the city council providing for condemnation of the tower in case the committee seeking funds had not raised the necessary amount within a certain time.

With this time limit approaching expiration and the committee still in need of several thousand dollars, the tower seemed likely to come down.

The tower is the highest of its kind in the world and is regarded as the oldest masonry factory in the United States. From a base forty feet in diameter the shaft rises to a height of 125 feet. The column tapers as it ascends, so that the diameter at the top is only twenty feet. It was built in 1793 by Charles Carroll, signer of the Declaration of Independence, having the cornerstone.

The interior of the structure was destroyed by fire in 1878, but was rebuilt and shot dropping continued until 1892. Then the tower was abandoned for shot making because of the advent of improved methods of manufacture.

Amsterdam.—American tourists have flooded this season to the quaint island of Marken in the Zuider Zee. This is one of the few communities in Holland where the native dress has not given way to standardized clothes. Huge balloon trousers for the men, and gay pink, blue and yellow waists, full petticoats and white caps for the women still are worn in Marken.

The little folks dress just as do their elders. The picturesque quality of the place maintained with an eye to business, have drawn so many American visitors that not a few of the natives speak English without an accent.

Representative of the fine furniture from Wm. A. French & Co. factory in Minneapolis is the desk pictured, the LANSING a William and Mary secretary of banded English walnut. The single large door is of extremely beautiful proportion and is a characteristic of many of the smaller sized secretaries of the time. It is treated in old yellow lacquer, with typical Chinese figures of raised lacquer work in soft colors, showing the influence of Oriental art which appeared in English furniture toward the latter part of the seventeenth century.

Names of the first members are closely linked with the notable events of the city's early history. Mr. Storvick for instance was Appleton's first mayor when the city was incorporated three years later. P. H. Smith was the first county judge and in 1855 was elected to the state senate. Mr. McGrath was one of the first village officers. The first members to be added to the above mentioned list were Henry S. Eggleston, second postmaster of Appleton, Amos Storvick, Appleton's first city attorney, and Theodore Conkey, at that time state senator.

TWO REAL VETERANS

At present are there only two men living who have been in the lodge more than a half century. They are Henry Storvick and R. A. Hall. Other members of long connection are Dudley Revell, Henry Wendelborn, Charles Seibert and C. L. Marston. Mr. Wendelborn is living at the Superior Home for the Aged at Douglas. Mr. Storvick is the chief of the lodge of the three Masonic orders, the two lodge members and the commander. O. P. Harris has been a Masonic member over 50 years and is a native of Waverly for the entire period.

One of the relics that will occupy a place of honor in the new Masonic temple is the very chair used by the first master of Waverly lodge, James W. Murray. The chair came into possession of John F. Rose who gave it to the lodge.

Of the past masters, 17 are dead and 18 are living. Those dead are J. W. Murray, 1854-56; Amos Storvick, 1856-61; Tracy L. Bingham, 1861-62; George I. Brewster, 1862-63; Samuel Boyd, 1863-64; C. The officers of the lodge were installed on July 10, 1854. The installation ceremony being conducted by G. W. Washburn of Fox River lodge No. 27, now (Shoshone) lodge No. 27.

First records of the Masonic order do not show why the name Waverly was selected but it is believed that Scotch members may have suggested the name. The Waverly records of St. Walter Scott were popular in those days. The name called on considerable weight it appears for it gave rise to the name of a hotel a club and later Waverly beach.

But now that Ireland's chief source of revenue is being cut off, the country is being a source of its own ruin and ruin to the world."

In the past two months the American consuls have received 8,000 applications for emigration visas and the Irish since 1913, when the emigration was stopped, have been a source of its own ruin and ruin to the world.

It is pointed out that large numbers of Irish people are being sent to America to work on the railroads and in the mines. They are being sent to America to work on the railroads and in the mines. They are being sent to America to work on the railroads and in the mines.

MAY RATION OUT OPIUM TO ORIENTAL SMOKERS

By Associated Press
Singapore.—The use of prepared opium in Malaya has diminished in recent years, and the eventual prohibition depends on individual countries. The report of a committee appointed to examine into the matter is being awaited.

The committee has found that the opium trade is a source of revenue to the government, but it is also a source of trouble to the people. The committee has found that the opium trade is a source of revenue to the government, but it is also a source of trouble to the people.

GROWTH WAS STEADY

Growth of the Waverly lodge in the early years was slow but steady. Membership increased to the point where the organization of the lodge was made. Mention has already been made of the chapter which was organized Feb. 17, 1857. Appleton Chapter No. 26, Knights Templar, came into being Oct. 7, 1859. The order took possession of a building over the bank. The next affiliated order was the Trinity Chapter No. 24, Order of the Eastern Star, which was organized Feb. 17, 1859. The Valley Shrine of Jerusalem was organized May 12, 1920. The last order to be organized was the John P. Chapter No. 551, Order of the B. M. in 1921.

MARINETTE EXPECTS EASY VICTORY OVER ORANGE

Northerners Plan To Send Hundreds Here For Turkey Day Tilt

East Green Bay Is Only Squad Able to Boast Victory Over Woodsmen This Season, Winning, 3 to 0

When Marinette and Appleton high schools clash on Lawrence field here in their final football game of the year, the Northerners will go in as favorites, having lost but one game this season. East Green Bay was the victor in this case, 3 to 0. Appleton also lost to East Green Bay, 10 to 6, but succeeded in crossing the goal line where Marinette failed. However, the Northerners held the Baymen to one fieldgoal whereas Appleton allowed a touchdown in addition to a place kick.

Earlier in the season Marinette defeated Milwaukee North Division high school, 25 to 0. Kandish, 12 to 7; Stevens Point, 41 to 0; Menominee, 7 to 0, and Sheboygan, 10 to 0.

Of these teams Appleton played only Sheboygan losing the game which was the first on its schedule, chiefly through overconfidence. Marinette fans are coming here in full strength, having chartered one of the largest special trains ever reserved for a high school game in this conference. They are expecting an easy and overwhelming victory, but according to Appleton fans, the northerners are due for a big surprise. The Orange came through the Oshkosh game here without a scratch, and Frazer who was out with an injury will be back at end Thursday.

PLAN PASSING ATTACK
Coach Jule Kevin has prepared his men to utilize a puzzling aerial attack to offset Marinette's weight advantage. Recent games have given the Appleton youngsters great confidence in their passing ability. Courtney and Hibel, or Courtney and Gilpe work like machines in a passing game and have been good for anywhere from 10 to 35 yards on every pass they completed in their last three games.

Hibel and Bowby have been working end and mine during the week and Kevin has developed interference for them which promises big gains. The field is big enough to let the backfield men get away.

The game is scheduled for 2:15 P. M. and will be the last one played on Lawrence field. Eight hundred tickets have been sent to Marinette and the fans here indicate a crowded field. All things being equal, the Orange are expected to win. The game is expected to be a close one, but the Orange are expected to win.

Much depends on the financial success of the game, for the season thus far has resulted in a considerable deficit. Supporters of the Orange are expected to purchase tickets, even though they are not planning to attend, and fans at the game will be given a chance to help still more by buying colors and favors which will be sold there by students.

Rockne Faces Problem Of Forming Backfield

Notre Dame Coach Loses Entire Galaxy of Stars Behind His Line Before Next Season

A big task is just ahead of Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame. The designer and developer of the best football machine of 1924, the champions of the universe, Rockne has his work cut out as he ponders over 1925.

In June of next year, 21 letter men in football will be graduated from Notre Dame. Their diplomas also will mean other than proficiency in football.

That sure is enough loss to make the most optimistic coach turn pale with fright. It would provide "Gloomy Gil" Doble of Cornell with a long line of ex-cuses.

What does Knute Rockne think about it?

COACH ROCKNE'S VIEWS
"I'll say this for him he isn't at all worried, on the surface at least. He treats the situation as a football condition that is liable to confront any coach."

"There isn't any sense in worrying about next year until it comes. I worry in the form of stiff opposition that must be met and beaten if the year's success is to continue unbroken."

"Notre Dame is destined to have a loser now and then like every other institution. Some of the greatest coaches the game has ever produced have had their team years. Certainly I shouldn't complain if one or more of them should befall me."

Freshmen Battle Sophomores for Title Wednesday Afternoon

Basketball got its official start at Lawrence when the Freshmen beat the Seniors, 14 to 10, Monday afternoon in Alexander gymnasium. In a preliminary game of the annual class tournament, and the Sophomores gave the Juniors a 10 to 4 cleaning Tuesday night, defeating the Juniors 17 to 7, and the Sophomores swamped the Seniors, 20 to 7.

Freshmen and Sophomores were due to fight for the title Wednesday afternoon, while the Juniors were ready to meet the Seniors for second place.

None of the Lawrence varsity players or second stringers are eligible for the class tournament, whose purpose is to uncover promising material which otherwise might bluish unseen. Some of the freshmen this year look good, although last year's wearlings furnished more material.

ORANGE TURNS TO BASKETBALL WHEN GRID SEASON ENDS

Five Out of Eleven Games Scheduled Will Be Played on Home Court

With eleven basketball games on its conference schedule, five of them here, Appleton high school will turn its attention from football to basketball immediately after the Thanksgiving day grid final here. After the football season has been finished, the annual class tournament will start.

Coach Jule Kevin is making plans for this event and the boys are eager for the start.

The Orange cagers will start their season at Sheboygan on Jan. 2, Oshkosh comes here on Jan. 9. The next home game brings East Green Bay to Armory G on Jan. 23. Neenah and Manitowoc play in Appleton on Feb. 8 and 13, respectively, and the final game of the season brings Fond du Lac to this city on March 6. Marinette, West Green Bay, Neenah, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh all are scheduled for outside games also.

The complete schedule follows:
Jan. 2—Sheboygan at Sheboygan.
Jan. 9—Oshkosh at Appleton.
Jan. 16—Marinette at Marinette.
Jan. 23—East Green Bay at Appleton.
Jan. 30—West Green Bay at Appleton.
Jan. 31—Neenah at Neenah.
Feb. 6—Fond du Lac at Fond du Lac.
Feb. 13—Neenah at Appleton.
Feb. 20—Manitowoc at Appleton.
Feb. 27—Oshkosh at Oshkosh.
March 6—Fond du Lac at Appleton.

CORNELL INVADERS QUAKER CITY GRID

Army and Navy Prepare for Annual Clash Saturday, with Cadets Doped to Win

By Associated Press
New York—Football gladiators of Cornell are bivouacked Wednesday on the outskirts of Philadelphia, awaiting the call to the arena. On the shores of New Jersey, the defending cohorts of Pennsylvania are gathered, preparatory to meeting the invader Thursday.

More than 50,000 persons are expected at the contest. While Pennsylvania is fighting for supremacy in eastern football, the Quaker eleven will be on its way to Baltimore for the annual clash of the Navy, Saturday.

But the Quaker eleven that includes a tie game with undefeated Navy, unable to summon its full strength in early contests, has regained all its injured and several players beset by scholastic troubles, and will go into the fray in almost perfect condition.

Sixty Eight Youngsters Will Stage Turkey Day Relay Over 8 1/2-mile Course

Sixty eight boys of Appleton and Neenah Thursday morning will meet in a relay race from Neenah to Appleton in an intercity event, and later will be entertained with a Thanksgiving program at the Appleton Y. M. C. A.

There will be 34 boys on each team, all of them of junior high school age, and the Appleton squad is composed of boys from every grade school here. The course stretches over a distance of 8 1/2 miles so that each entrant will run a quarter mile. Automobiles will be provided to take the boys to their stations and will carry them to the Y. M. C. A. for showers and rubdowns after they have run their course.

The race will start at the Neenah high school and proceed from there west across the Soo line tracks to

Appleton High Meets Marinette In Final Tilt On Turkey Day

Northerners Will Be Accompanied on Their Invasion by Hundreds of Fans in Special Train

Appleton high school Thursday afternoon will clash with Marinette in the final game of the season which also will be the last football contest played on the old Lawrence field. Although the Orange has no chance to establish a claim on the Fox River Valley high school conference, the game with the northerners on Turkey day is regarded as one of the most important of the year, being the main feature of "homecoming" day.

Marinette is doped as one of the strongest squads in the state and is counted upon to give the Orange its hardest work of the year. The invaders are said to be considerably heavier than the Appleton men, but Coach Jule Kevin has developed an aerial attack which is expected to offset this advantage and win the game.

In recent games Courtney has been shifted from half to quarterback, and in this position loosened up a passing attack which gave East Green Bay, the conference leaders, all they could do to win and defeated Oshkosh, 13 to 0. Hieble seems to work best as Courtney's partner on the receiving end, but probably Frazer will be back at end Thursday and fans will watch him also in this department.

The Marinette game here will be the only football attraction in the valley with the exception of the meeting of East and West Green Bay there, and it looks as though a record crowd will be in attendance. Tickets have been placed on sale throughout the city with the junior class in charge. General admission will be 50 cents with an extra charge of the same amount for reserved seats, which may be had at Bellings drug-store.

The Orange got off to a poor start this year when they lost their first game at Sheboygan, but bucked up before the next one and treated Fond du Lac to a healthy trimming. Manitowish also was defeated despite a considerable advantage in weight, but La Crosse, outside the conference, won a hard tussle.

The LaCrosse game cost the Appleton school a loss of about $200, as the expense of bringing the invading squad here was much greater than the receipts. Kaukauna was the next victim of the Orange, while West Green Bay and Appleton fought to a scoreless tie on Lawrence field, and Green Bay won by a narrow margin at Bellevue park. Oshkosh outplayed the lighter Appleton schoolers in the line Saturday, but was unable to cope with the aerial tactics displayed by Courtney and his mates, and dropped the game, 13 to 0.

Officials for the Marinette game were chosen without regard to expense. Eyer of Fond du Lac will be the umpire, Davis of the University of high school, referee and Houston, coach of Menominee high school, head linesman.

Favors and colors of all kinds will be sold at the game to make it as colorful as possible, and the stands and fences will be decorated for the occasion. Parades will be held before the game, and the Appleton high school band probably will make its first public appearance at Lawrence field Thursday afternoon.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:15 P. M. The largest special train ever reserved for a high school football game will bring hundreds of Marinette fans here at 11 A. M. Eight hundred tickets have been sent to the northern city, and Appleton fans who desire to attend the game will find it advisable to buy tickets in advance instead of purchasing them at the gate.

East Lacks Quarters Of Real Merit

New York — There are no outstanding quarterbacks in the east this year, no all-round star like Plann of Cornell, or great field general like Richeson of Yale.

Dooley of Dartmouth, as he played in the Harvard game, was the best looking quarterback in the east. Against Yale he wasn't so good.

McKinney of Boston college is smart and clever. Major Cavanaugh, Boston College coach, says he is as good as any quarter in the Atlantic sector.

Others worth while are Voemans of the Army, Pease of Columbia, Thomas of Penn. Terrill of Rutgers, and Ernst of Lafayette.

IDAHO PUTS KAYO ON ANCIENT JINX

Portland, Ore.—University of Idaho's light fast team, which has upset everything tackled except Stanford, is the outstanding sensation on the Pacific coast this year.

But at Idaho's campus, this miracle is nothing compared to the final overwhelming of the "Oregon Jinx," 13-0.

Sixteen times in 16 years Oregon and Idaho Universities have played, without an Idaho victory. Thirteen games were won by Oregon; the other three were tied. But the "Oregon Jinx" has been a real mental obstacle to every Idaho player when the team trotted out to meet Oregon.

The jinx was responsible for Oregon putting over one of the most unheard-of stunts in football—winning with but 10 players, back in 1908.

The game was a terrific see-saw, with Oregon behind. There was much roughness, and soon, every substitute on the Oregon squad had been used to replace those injured and those barred or roughness. Then, an Oregon player was barred for roughing an Idaho punter.

All the reserve men were battered to pieces, so Oregon sought to have the offending player reinstated. Idaho's captain demurred. Shortening its line, Oregon switched Moulten, guard, to fullback and bucked the ball across for the winning touchdown.

Moulten, now dead, was a unique figure in Pacific coast football. One foot had been deformed since birth, but Moulten devised a special type

NEW BADGER GRID CHIEF IS UNUSUAL

Stephen H. Polaski, Married
Man with Two Children,
Chosen Captain

Madison — In Stephen H. Polaski, newly captain of the university of Wisconsin football team, coaches believe Wisconsin has one of the most unusual gridiron leaders. Polaski is a married man with two children, but keeping a home and attending the university apparently has not handicapped his football activities.

"Steve," as he is commonly known, first came into the limelight in 1922 when he played opposite Gus Tebell on one of the wing positions for Wisconsin. He distinguished himself that year for his fight against Chicago and Michigan, and showed promise of being a real football leader.

Last year, Polaski dropped out of football, returning to the game this year and establishing himself regularly as end. With the exception of the Iowa game, he has been in every contest this season. He received injuries in the Notre Dame fray which put him out of the Hawkeye encounter and his absence was generally felt.

The new captain comes from Nashotah, Waukesha county.

of shoe and still stands out as the Pacific coast's foremost place kicker. In the game described above, Moulten's "iron toe" negotiated four field goals from all angles.

LEADING COLLEGES PLAN MENU CHANGE

New York—Already several of the leading colleges of the country have decided on drastic changes in their schedule for next season.

Princeton was the first to announce the change by failing to renew its two-year agreement with Notre Dame.

Apparently the Tiger management feels that so strong a team as Notre Dame is too tough an opponent for Princeton early in the season.

Instead of meeting Princeton, Notre Dame will take on Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. A number of eastern colleges were anxious to book Rockne's eleven when the Princeton game was called off, but Penn got the call.

Pennsylvania, after getting much publicity over the Notre Dame game, got some more with reverse English for dropping Lafayette.

Penn defeated Lafayette 63 this year in one of the hardest games of the season. These two colleges are natural rivals. As yet Penn has offered no logical reason for the cancellation.

On the Pacific coast there will be a big change. Since both California and Stanford have cut Southern California, the rivalry between these three schools will be greatly lessened.

Southern California, representing that section of the state made a strong sectional rivalry for the two northern schools, California and Stanford.

Appleton high school is preparing for its final game of the football season which brings Marinette here Thanksgiving day in a game planned as the main feature of the Orange

"homecoming." The Appleton grid boys lost their final chance to cap the 6, despite the loss of several regulars, and are looking forward to treating the strong Marinette squad to the same dose.

Barber Shop Must Include Women Now

New York—For ages the barber shop was a man's institution, a place where womankind had no business. Along came the lady barber, and after her the "bob" craze, and the so-called consoling precincts were man's no more.

Amalgamation of barber shops and beauty parlors is going on in all parts of New York City. The barber shop crowd on a Saturday afternoon takes on the mixed character of the crowd in a hotel foyer. Women wait in line with men and are just as eager as men for the magic word "Next." Like men, they buy a shine from Joe while waiting.

Within the last year the beauty parlor has become an integral part of many a shop. The change started in uptown hotels and spread to establishments downtown. Barbers like to suggest extra ministrations to their customers. It is a source of much revenue. Naturally they can not suggest treatment for baldness to a patron whose locks are all too plentiful; but they can suggest—delicately, of course—a little facial improvement. Hence the beauty parlor annex.

Shops are transformed. The barbers faced a real problem when the "bob" movement started. They didn't wish to lose their men customers who objected to the presence of women, and they didn't care to miss the "bob" harvest. Some of them solved the problem nicely by adding the beauty parlor and keeping their feminine customers out of the chairs in the main salon.

In other shops, however, women use the same entrance and the same waiting chairs as men; they receive the same bootblack service, read the same funny papers and enter freely into barber shop discussions of politics and other matters of common interest. The men customers go right on smoking, regardless of the women. But then, men do that almost everywhere now.

A patial shop near Grand Central has fifteen manicurists at work among whom are several "beauty doctors." "As a matter of fact, men and women get about the same beauty treatments," said the boss of this shop. "But they don't know it." It reported that barbers are not inclined to go into the more advanced process of beautifying. Shampoos and face massage are still their repertoire, though some are branching out into lines requiring higher specialization.

One effect of the new era in barbering is reported by the head of another shop. He has added women's magazines to his stock of literature for waiting patrons.

Men Still Object. Some men still frown when they find women waiting in line ahead of them. These men are classified by a barber as:

1. Men who think women's place is the home.
 2. Evidently gentleman who can't get used to seeing the new styles in hair and want women to retain their "crowning glory."
 3. Men whose wives have "done it."
 4. Men who want to talk vigorously on current events.
 5. Men who don't want to hear women talk.
- "Yes," said the barber, "The woman who comes in here talk more than the man and it wastes on the nerves of men customers. Though I don't pretend to say why."
- Women are said to be no harder to please than men in the barber's chair. Often, indeed, they are less particular. Yet some barbers refuse to work for women. They say that the time consumed on a "bob" cuts into their earnings. A woman's haircut takes more time than a man's.

FASHION HINTS

Strings of alternate emeralds and pearls, both frankly imitation, are very popular now.

Some of the newest envelope bags are heavily embroidered and braided and some are made of tapestry or brocade that gives the effect of great elaboration.

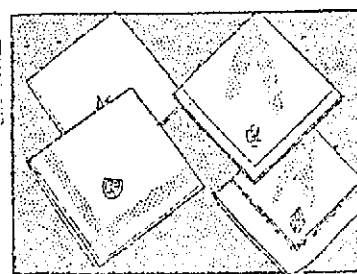

The one-strap pump of gold or silver brocade piped with gold cloth is the proper thing for evening wear.

Bell shaped sleeves are seen on many of the new fur coats and they are outlined with fluffy fox.

Some of the new furs are tipped with gold or silver to give a novel effect.

Christmas Presents

MONOGRAMS

Monograms and framed initials make linen handkerchiefs excellent gifts. You can trace a design of your own liking and embroider the monogram at little cost. Tape border effect are among the newest and are quite popular.

Elaborate Design

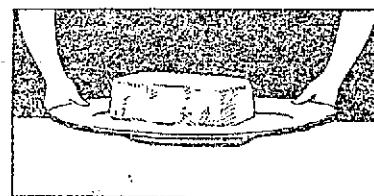

Brocaded tissue cloth and fur combine to make this very elaborate evening gown that is gorgeous enough for the most exotic taste. The artistic manipulation of the side drapery and the panel that extends below the hem line relieve the severity without in any way complicating the classic lines.

Household Suggestions

PEANUT ROAST

Peanut roast, a good substitute for meat loaf, is made by grinding peanuts very fine, mixing with bread crumbs and egg and seasoning, and baking it until it is a rich brown.

MUST BE DRY

Wools should be nearly dry before you attempt to iron them after laundering.

FOR CREAM SOUPS

One level tablespoon of flour or two-thirds of a level tablespoon of cornstarch will thicken a cup of liquid cream soups.

USE SODA

Soda added to the water for boiling vegetables that are a little old will make them much more tender.

RUB WITH SALT

Rub egg stained spoons and other badly tarnished articles with salt before they are washed.

HEM DISH TOWELS

It is best to hem your dish towels and dishcloths by the flat and threads from unhemmed cloths are apt to obstruct the sink drain.

FOR BOILED FISH

Egg sauce is the proper accompaniment for boiled fish. A few bread crumbs spread over this sauce makes it delicious.

BE ACCURATE

Success in pastry making is achieved by accurate measurements. Always use standard measuring cups and spoons.

REMOVES MILDEW STAINS

To remove mildew stains mix equal parts of powdered starch and soft soap and half as much common salt and the juice of a lemon. Soak the spots with this and put in the sun to dry.

FOR PATENT LEATHER

Scratches on patent leather shoes will not be noticeable if they are painted over with a mixture of olive oil and black ink applied with a fine brush.

TO CLEAN TUB

Kerosene oil is better than scouring brick for removing the ring that is deposited on the sides of the bathtub.

SODA OR AMMONIA

For cleaning and for laundry purposes hard water should be softened by the addition of washing soda or ammonia.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN (A Menu for the Stout and Thin) EAT AND—Lose Weight—Gain Weight—

Juice one lemon, 1 slice lean cold boiled ham, 12 stalks asparagus, 1/2 head lettuce, 1 dill pickle, 1 halfinch slice vegetable roast, 4 tablespoons cauliflower, 1 teaspoon butter, 4 tablespoons fruit salad, 2 thin crisp slices gluten toast, 2 gluten rolls, 1 apple, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1070. Protein, 208; fat, 384; carbohydrate, 478. Iron, .0134 gram.

VEGETABLE ROAST

Two large carrots, 1/2 cup chopped almonds, 1 cup stale bread crumbs, 2 small onions, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1/4 cup diced celery, 1 egg, 1/2 cup vegetable stock, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Wash and scrape carrots and put through the fine knife of the food chopper. Peel and chop onions. Put vegetables in a saucepan with water to cover and boil until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain and measure liquid. There should be three-fourth cup. Add boiling water if necessary. Add nuts and bread crumbs to vegetables and mix well. Add egg, unseasoned, salt and pepper and butter and stir with a fork until blended. Add vegetable water to make moist and turn into a well-buttered mold. Cover with buttered paper and bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold and garnish with parsley to serve.

Total calories, 1124. Protein, 229; fat, 646; carbohydrate, 283. Iron, .0059 gram.

One banana, 1 lemon (juice), 1/2 cup uncooked cereal, 1 soft, boiled egg, 1 cup cream of tomato soup, 1 slice cold boiled ham, 4 tablespoons creamed potatoes, asparagus salad (12 stalks), 1/2 head lettuce, 2 slices vegetable roast, 4 tablespoons white sauce, 1 baked potato, 4 tablespoons cauliflower, 4 tablespoons fruit salad, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 cubic inches cottage pudding, with 2 tablespoons chocolate sauce, raisin, puff pudding, 4 tablespoons whipped cream, 4 tablespoons table cream, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 pieces buttered toast, 2 2-inch squares corn bread, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 1 pint whole milk, 1 apple.

Total calories, 3548. Protein, 288; fat, 1842; carbohydrate, 1720. Iron, .0169 gram.

One tablespoon of whipped cream is dropped on the plate of tomato and the other "garnishes" the fruit salad. Two are planned for the raisin pudding.

The cauliflower for this menu, as for the entire family except the reducing member is boiled and then arranged in a baking dish and well seasoned with butter and pepper and a generous layer of grated cheese. The dish is put in a hot oven until the cheese is melted. The butter and cheese add many calories to the cauliflower.

It is very necessary that everyone eat plenty of fruit, especially one whose diet is rich in fats and carbohydrates. An apple at bedtime is worth remembering.

Use Cream To Free Your Skin From Freckles

Get your skin free of Summer freckles and tan. Bleach a bit!

There are effective dreams that hurry up the departure of tan-and-brown "moth" spots which you probably call "liver" spots. Really, they can't be proved to have any association with the liver at all; they come like the melancholy of youth, without known reason, but they are often quite bad at the end of the summer. If you like well send you a list of several efficacious bleaches.

And there's always diluted lemon-juice. Never use it straight; it's too strong and darkens you instead of bleaching you. Dilute it with boiled water. Or use three parts of peroxide and one part lemon-juice. Soak a linen cloth in it, spread it over the freckles and leave it for ten minutes. Then wash off gently with warm water. Do it three times a day. This is especially good for freckles. But it is a bit drying. A good prepared bleach is better.

Then study the tones of your skin and hair and eyes and make your clothes accent to every high light in your hair. Make the blue of your eyes leap out from your face like a gentian out of an ivory vase, or the brown of your eyes like brown velvet stairs; or the green of your eyes like the heart of a wood at twilight. Dress for your eyes and the tones of your skin.

Then study your body for lines. Clothes never should be anything but atmosphere for you. You are the thing the world wants. Your body should be like quicksilver; no one able to think of it as static and solid. Women who do their work could have beautiful lines if they carried themselves properly. The loveliest line in all the world is the line of a woman from her arm-pit to her ankle. Look at it! Flowing and shuons and lovely. Make us feel it under your clothes. Bodies aren't things to be ashamed of, but carried proudly—From The Delicater.

ATTRACTIVE FROCKS

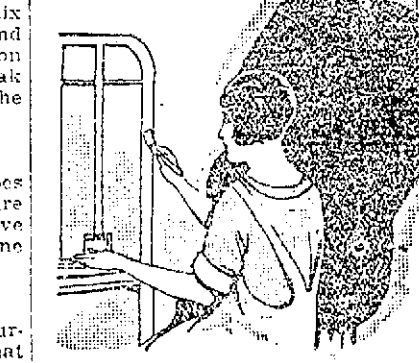

Alternating ruffles of black and white velvet ribbon trim an attractive dance frock of black chiffon.

MANY BUTTONS

Long rows of buttons fasten the new coats and are seen on the smartest models in place of the clasped effect.

How To Make Homes Cozy

BRASS REDS RENEWED

If you have a brass bed and are about ready to discard it, don't. A clever way of utilizing it and making it conform with modern furnishing is to paint it. It will take paint nicely and will show a neat color instead of a brassy glare.

Husband Has To Suffer For Wife's Beauty

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Hardly anyone but me knows that Catherine will be 36 her next birthday. You'd guess her age at about 25. She's as slim as a silver birch tree, and there isn't a line in her face. I never have seen a Follies girl who is any prettier than Catherine, when she's dressed for a party. And her clothes are wonderful.

So I was not prepared for the shock I had about a month ago when I stopped in at her house on my way down town. George, her husband, was just leaving. He looked gloomier than usual.

Her door was open and I went in. Catherine was sitting up in her lace-trimmed bed, having her coffee. But I hardly recognized her.

Her head was tied up in a white cloth, there was a rubber strap under her chin, and her face and neck were smeared with a sort of gray plaster. She was wearing a large pair of white cotton gloves.

"My word, what's happened to you?" I asked. "Automobile wreck?"

"Nothing," she said. "But don't make me laugh or the mud will crack. Sit down and have some coffee and I'll tell you all about it."

"What?" I repeated. "Mud?"

"Don't pretend you haven't heard of a mud-pack for the face," Catherine said. "You know it's supposed to remove lines and wrinkles. The rubber under my chin is only a strap I wear at night to keep from having a double chin, and the cloth tied around my head is just to hold the water-wave comb in."

"Why the gloves?" I asked. I simply had to know.

"Just to keep the cold-cream on my hands from soiling the coverlet," Catherine explained.

I went over to the dressing-table. Beside the cream was a smaller box labeled "Nose Cream" and a bottle of "Muscle Oil." There was a large white tray filled with rouge and lipstick and long eye-brow pencils. There were five bottles of French perfume, and a great jar of hair pomade.

"What does Jack think of all this?" I couldn't help saying.

"Oh, he's used to it now," Catherine said lightly. "When we were first married, he couldn't bear to see me with cold cream on my face even. But I just told him I was going to keep young."

"How can he kiss you goodnight through that mud-pack?" I went on.

"Oh, he doesn't any more, anyway. I hardly see him in the morning. You know, yourself, how nutty-of-fact married people are."

But I know that not all of them

Quickly Drives Out All Rheumatic Poison

The first day you take Rheuma, the doctor's remedy that is selling so rapidly, you'll realize that when Rheuma goes in uric acid goes out.

It matters not whether you are tortured with pain, crippled with swollen joints or distressed with occasional twinges, Rheuma is guaranteed to end your rheumatic trouble or money back.

Rheuma is just as effective in cases of lumbago, sciatica, arthritis and chronic neuritis.

Rheumatism is a dangerous disease. It often affects the heart and causes death. If you have it in the slightest degree get a bottle of Rheuma from Schlimz Bros., or any good druggist today and drive it from your system at once.

Black, White Brocade

A very elegant material for a coat is this black and white wool brocade with the softness of velvet and the warmth of fur. It is bandied with tilling squirrel and lined with very soft green satin.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE FROM PAULA PERIER TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

"Is this Humboldt 3967?"

"Is Mr. John Alden Prescott there? U. S. Long Distance calling."

"This is Mr. Prescott's secretary talking, Mrs. Altherton. May I take the message?"

"Paula wants to speak to him personally. When do you expect him in?"

"I'll get him."

"This is Mr. Prescott speaking. Put the party on the line."

"Go ahead."

"Hello. Hello. Mr. Prescott speaking."

"This is Paula."

"Oh, hello, Paula. Glad to hear your voice."

"Are you really, Jack? I did not tell Sydney that I was going to talk to you. I know he would throw cold water on it."

"What do you want to say to me, dear?"

"You know very well, I want you to let me give that money to little Jack."

"But I can't do that, Paula. How it would look!"

"That's it. You men are always asking and being afraid of how it would look to other people. I see no reason why I should not give as much money as I please to my own child. Besides, it can be fixed so no one will know it, not even your sweet wife."

"But, Paula, don't you understand that Jack is not your child any more? He has been legally adopted by Leslie."

"Of course I know that, Jack, but I think you should not remind me of it. Besides, I am sure if Leslie knew about it she would take the money from me. I wish now that I had spoken to her instead of asking Syd to tell you. Men always mix things up with their silly vanity. I might have known that two men would have spoiled everything."

"But, Paula, I have money enough to support my own child."

"Of course, Jack. I know that, but don't you realize that I am making a great deal of money, more than I can spend, and it is the greatest pleasure you could give me in fact, the only reputation you can make to me is to give me the satisfaction that I know that I too am working for my child."

"If you put it that way, Paula, I will have to consider it. Mind, I'm not saying that I am going to do it, but when old Syd comes back we will talk it over. I want to congratulate you, my dear, on your great success. I wonder how it would feel to have more money than one knew what to do with."

"The one thing that you feel most, Jacques, is that there are some things that money cannot buy. If you will let me buy with it a part of my child's education I will bless you as long as I live. I would like to send my love to Leslie, but she must not know that I have phoned you. I will send Sydney Carter right away to you and he can talk the matter over. Goodnight." (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

LETTERS SHOW HOW FRANCIS JOSEPH RULED HIS EMPIRE

Intimate Details of Dual Monarchy Revealed in Ancient Writings

By Associated Press
Vienna—Intimate details as to the methods of Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, in running the dual monarchy 33 years ago have been given by the publication in a local newspaper of a collection of letters and orders from the imperial hand. The autocratic ruler was not slow to see what he wanted, done, and to give orders to that effect.

In 1888 Francis Joseph learned that Vienna planned to honor the German emperor with a torchlight procession. This did not please him, so from Budapest he telegraphed his prime minister as follows:

"I learn from the papers that an agitation is afoot for a torchlight procession for the German emperor. As such a thing is entirely out of the question, it will be well to set one's face against it decisively at once; moreover to keep one's eyes open—F. J."

The emperor evidently depended largely upon the newspaper of his realm for information, for in 1889 he read in Budapest a certain projected Slav activities in Vienna in which Slav parliamentarians were to participate. Beginning his telegram "I see in the papers," he said to his minister, "I leave it to you to reflect whether, in view of the diverse provocation occurrences of the last few days, this celebration could not be prohibited, provided it is legally practicable—F. J."

Polish students in Lemberg in 1889 adopted some resolutions, possibly reflecting hopes for ultimate independence which the emperor did not like. He must have been reading the newspapers again, for "his message shows he was awaiting confirmation from the governor of the province. In the meantime he telegraphed his premier: "Decisive steps appear necessary against the students who, in disregard of their rector's prohibition, met and adopted impertinent resolutions. Unless we are prepared to witness like excesses at all our universities, the government must exhibit determination—F. J."

Francis Joseph made known his royal intentions to Hungary as well as to Austria, for he sent this message to Baron von Bittow, the prime minister at Budapest: "Having learnt that the civil marriage bill has been placed on the order of the day, I once more draw your attention to the fact that I shall not approve a bill which is untimely and so destined to lead to pretty unnecessary complications—F. J."

TURKEY IS LACKING FROM MENU OF BABE AND DICKIE

By Associated Press
Chicago—There will be no Thanksgiving turkey for Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, serving life terms for the murder of Bobby Franks. Instead the menu will consist of roast pork, potatoes, tomato, mince pie, coffee and a clear. But prison routine will be broken for the day, no work will be done and in the afternoon a vaudeville program will be given.

Some hunters have announced their intention of using bow and arrow, while others favor bowie knives or boomerangs.

POWERS NOT GUILTY, IS FINDING OF JURY

By Associated Press
Janesville—After being out 15 minutes the jury in the case of Patrick Powers, suspended policeman of Madison charged with manslaughter, returned a verdict of not guilty Wednesday morning.

Powers shot and killed Peter Pozzani, a student at University of Wisconsin at the rear of the Powers home in Madison, May 12, last. Powers claimed he thought the student was a burglar and as coming toward him when shot and killed instantly.

ANTON ROEHL

Anton Roehl, 72, died at 6:30 Wednesday morning at his home, 739 Maple Grove st. He is survived by his widow, seven sons, John of Kansas City, Max of Chicago, Frank, Frank, Anton, Max, George and Edward of Appleton; four daughters, Mrs. Michael Cass of Menominee, Mich., Helen, Theresa and Katherine of Appleton.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Sacred Heart church. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery. Mr. Roehl was a member of the St. Joseph society, Holy Name society and the Third Order.

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

NURSERY EQUIPMENT
The essential articles for the baby's nursery are a comfortable bed and the things that will be needed in his toilet. The following list will be found to include the essential items:

An old soft blanket.
Four dozen safety pins of different sizes.
Some old soft towels.
Soft wash cloths.
Hot water bag, with flannel cover.
Talcum powder.
Crisp soap.
Two ounces of boracic acid.
A crib—If desired, a clothes basket makes a good bed. A basket or box that may readily be moved about is a great convenience. The mattress for any sort of a bed may be made from table felting, which, when folded a few times, makes a very soft smooth bed and has the great advantage over the ordinary mattress that it may be washed and boiled and dried in the sun.

Below is a list of additional articles that will be found convenient in the care of the baby.

Bathrub, tin, galvanized-iron ware, or rubber.
Drying frames for shirts and stockings.
Bath apron of Turkish toweling or outing flannel.
A low chair without arms.
Baby scales.
A low screen, to protect the baby while it's being bathed.
A low table on which to bathe and dress the baby.

HEALTH HINTS FOR MOTHERS
The bottles should be cleaned immediately after feeding by first rinsing with clear water and then soaking in soda, borax or soap water. Then clean well with a brush. Rinse bottles with boiled water. They should be filled with boiled water until ready for use.

Use only nipples which are slipped over the neck of the bottle. Nipples with tubes are convenient for a baby mother, but they cannot be cleaned thoroughly and may mean death to the baby. After each feeding cleanse the nipple thoroughly inside and outside. Boil the nipple at least once a day and keep it dry in a clean covered cup or glass.

To The Mothers of Appleton
If any mother with a baby under one year of age has not received a copy of that beautiful and authoritative book, "Baby's Health" call upon the Appleton Post-Crescent, or any members in Appleton of the Baby's Health Association and a copy will be given free.

FATE OF FOURTEEN GUILTY OF FRAUD, RESTS WITH JUDGE

Verdict Carries Maximum of Five Years and $10,000 Fine on Each Count

By Associated Press
Indianapolis, Ind.—The fate of 14 of the defendants in the Hawkins Mortgage Co. mail conspiracy case convicted by a jury in federal court here Tuesday night on all 18 counts of the indictments against them, rests with Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger who was to pass sentence Wednesday. Two of the defendants, John A. Clark and Charles E. Succop of Pittsburgh, were found not guilty.

The verdict carries with a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 on each of the counts, the degree of punishments resting with the presiding judge.

It is expected all the men convicted will appeal. Although no announcement was made Tuesday night, the defendants and their counsel previously had indicated they would take the case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago in the event of an unfavorable verdict.

Approximately 150 witnesses were called and thousands of Hawkins Mortgage Co. truckloads brought to the court rooms. The government testimony was to the effect that the defendant officials with Morton S. Hawkins, fugitive head of the company, sold approximately $6,000,000 in worthless stock to investors over the country by means of a campaign carried on through the mail. It was alleged the stock which sold for $55 a share was not worth even as much as a cent.

SEAVER FUNERAL

The funeral of George Seaver, who died Sunday morning at his home 561 Richmond st., was held at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning from St. Joseph church. Interment took place in St. Joseph cemetery. Bearers were Charles Wetzel, Fred Meyer, George Ruchner, John Rechner, H. Rossmittel and R. T. Gage.

MRS. M. BURGERT

Mrs. M. BURGERT, 55, died Wednesday morning at her home, 741 Superior st. She is survived by her widow, seven children, "children" grandchildren, two great grandchildren, one brother, Malen Munster of Clintonville. The funeral will be at 10:30 Friday morning at Emmanuel Evangelical church with the Rev. H. A. Bernhardt in charge. Interment will be in Stephentown cemetery.

MELVIN AHRENS

Melvin Robert Ahrens, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ahrens, Center, died at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. He is survived by his parents, one brother, Edwin Jr., grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ahrens of Appleton and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Semrow, Freedom and his great-grandfather, August Semrow of Freedom. The funeral will be at 1:30 Friday afternoon from the residence and at 2 o'clock at St. John Lutheran church. The Rev. A. H. Werny will have charge. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

THE LED OWN FUNERAL CORTEGE

Mike Merlo, general president of Unione Siciliana and its 34 branches, led his own funeral procession in Chicago. At least that is the way it appeared to thousands along the streets of Little Italy, through which the cortege moved. A life-like wax figure of the deceased stood in the first automobile. Then came 25 machines loaded with 30,000 worth of flowers. These were followed by the hearse and several score of cars filled with relatives and friends.

The Man Who Invented The Alphabet

Devised as neat a method of systematization as the world has ever seen.

The alphabet is the beginning and the end-the foundation and the superstructure-the cause and the effect-of all systems dependent upon quick-reference indices.

It is therefore natural that the alphabet should be the basis of the arrangement of the A-B-C Classified Ads. With all these classified offers arranged in A-B-C order, finding just what you want is a matter of seconds instead of hours.

And this is not all! These offers are also arranged numerically. Added to A-B C convenience is 1-2-3 discharges. Figures as well as letters lead you straight to the opportunity you are seeking.

You can't beat this system for quick-finding convenience-and you can't be beaten if you follow it and partake of its opportunities.

INFANT MORTALITY RATE HERE LOWER THAN STATE RATE

Babies Have Better Chance to Survive Here Than in Most Cities

Appleton had one of the lowest infant mortality rates of cities of over 10,000 population in Wisconsin in 1922, according to a study made by the state board of health. Appleton's infant mortality rate is 52.2 deaths per 1,000 births, which ranks among the lowest of the state.

Changes for Wisconsin babies to survive the first years are better than in any period in the past. This conclusion is reached by the state board of health after a survey of annual infant mortality figures. Despite the increase in population and a small increase in infant deaths over 1922, the 1923 infant mortality rate declined, it is reported.

The year's infant death rate was 48.9 per 1,000 births based on 4,153 deaths of infants under one year, which compares with 4115 such deaths in 1922 and 4,473 in 1921, the summary shows. The urban infant death rate exceeded the rural. The city rate was 77.4 while the rural districts showed a rate of 54.7. In explanation the board made this statement:

"The urban rate exceeds the rural on the face of the returns, but if deaths of rural babies in hospitals were excluded from the urban figures, it is likely the actual urban rate would be lower than the rural. The reason for this are found in the intensive child welfare work now being carried on in most of the cities and the lack of such efforts in many of the rural communities.

The infant mortality rate for Wisconsin cities of more than 10,000 population in 1922 follows: Ashland, 58.8; Green Bay, 84; Madison, 73.2; Superior, 82; Eau Claire, 47.6; Fond du Lac, 65.5; Kenosha, 92.5; La Crosse, 75.4; Manitowish, 108.5; Wausau, 65.5; Marquette, 49.5; Milwaukee, 75.4; West Allis, 49.5; Stevens Point, 90.5; Racine, 75; Beloit, 60.2; Janesville, 55.5; Sheboygan, 79; Waukesha, 60.8; Oshkosh, 75.2; average 77.4.

The rural rates for a group of counties follow: Adams, 108; Barron, 70.8; Bayfield, 61; Buffalo, 78.2; Burnett, 40; Calumet, 50.6; Chippewa, 55.6; Clark, 55.8; Columbia, 55.8; Crawford, 68.2; Dodge, 51.4; Door, 68.5; Dunn, 55; Florence, 54; Forest, 60.6.

TRUSTEES ELECT NAYLOR TEMPORARY HEAD OF COLLEGE

Committee Is Appointed to Select Permanent Successor to Dr. Plantz

At a meeting of the board of trustees of Lawrence college Thursday afternoon, Dean Wilson S. Naylor was elected acting president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Samuel Plantz on Nov. 14. A committee was appointed to select a permanent president. Until this committee acts Dr. Naylor will administer the college government, as he has done since Dr. Plantz's death.

The committee consists of Lewis M. Alexander, president ex-officio; Judson G. Rosebush, vice-president; James S. Reeve, Ray V. Cliff, Lyman I. Nash, William H. Hatton, representing the trustees, Professors Otto E. Fairfield, John H. Farley and Deane O. Kusman, representing the faculty; David Stevens of the University of Chicago, representing the alumni, and Dr. J. A. Holmes, representing the Wisconsin Conference.

The board also elected Mrs. Robert S. Ingraham as a trustee, and named George W. Jones as first vice-president and William H. Hatton as second vice-president of the trustees.

Dr. Naylor has been at Lawrence for twenty years, coming here in 1904. He has been dean since 1920. Dr. Naylor was born in Tecumseh, Kan., Jan. 7, 1864. He took his A. Trades Council Meets
The late November meeting of the Appleton Trades and Labor council will take place at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the council's rooms over the Woolworth store at which time pending business will be transacted.

POLICE SEEK PETTY AUTOMOBILE THIEVES

Police have been receiving further complaints of petty thievery practiced on parked cars. On Tuesday evening two automobiles were striped, one while it was parked near the Catholic home, the other while it was parked near St. Joseph hall. The former, belonging to William Knapstein, Greenfield, missed a black horse hide robe, while the other, belonging to Lawrence Sommer, Appleton, was striped of a tire and tire rim.

A Holiday Job for Cross Word Puzzle Fans

The scab puzzle below is offered as a special Thanksgiving treat to cross word puzzle fans. Through a mistake in the numbering—the four horizontal spaces in the upper right hand corner are unnumbered. The word is a town in Wisconsin, lettered "A" below. Three prizes will be awarded winners of this puzzle. The first prize will be a dictionary, and the second and third prizes, cross word puzzle books. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of correctness, neatness, and the value of an accompanying note. Last week's puzzles were frequently submitted together with interesting written comments.

DON'T BE STAMPEDED

When Buying A Washer

It will pay you to thoroughly consider the many real and time-tried advantages of the "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer before you decide on any electric washing machine

The EASY Vacuum Electric WASHER

HERE ARE A FEW FACTS

About Washing Speeds and Washer Capacity:

Soap suds and water should be gently forced through the meshes of fine garments. If clothes are washed too quickly frictional wear on your washings will be the result — indicated by an undue amount of lint in the bottom of the washer. Clothes cost more than the few minutes required to wash them properly.

The "EASY" uses air pressure and suction to gently, yet positively impel the warm soapy mixture through the meshes of your treasured possessions. Gently, in far less time and better than by human hands, your clothes are washed by the three nickel plated cups of the "EASY."

Carefully conducted tests have proven conclusively that clothes last longer when washed the "EASY" way than if cleansed by hand on the washboard or by any other washing machine principle.

AND YET—The "EASY" will wash more clothes, cleaner and without wear or tear, than any other machine. This is due to its large tank capacity. Ten single sheets or the equivalent in other clothes PROPERLY WASHED without effort. Isn't this exclusive EASY feature worth investigating?

OTHER ADVANTAGES

SOLID SHEET COPPER TANK, entirely open at the top, and, therefore, "as easy to clean as a dishpan."

Largest Capacity for Small Floor Space Occupied No Heavy Parts to Lift Gear Driven

Like the finest automobile the "EASY" is gear driven, all machinery COMPLETELY enclosed and running in a bath of oil—no belts to stretch and give trouble—no adjustments to make. Hundreds of women own "EASY" washers in this district. They suggest that by all means you arrange for a demonstration of all that the "EASY" will do for you before making your decision to buy any washing machine.
